New Gains By Red Forces In China Claimed

Unconfirmed Rumors Continue Of Nationalist Peace Maneuvers

NANKING, Dec. 17.—(INS)—Important new communist gains on the approaches to Nanking and Peipign were reported today amid continued but unconfirmed rumors of nationalist peace maneuvers.

President Chiang Kai-shek's harassed government, however claimed the remaining elements of its 12th army group had broken out of a red trap and joined nationalist forces on the Hwai river line above Nanking.

Claim Contradicted

This claim was contradicted flatly by the communist radio which asserted Gen. Huang Wei's 12th army group now has been completely annihilated after 22 days of encirclement.

It was reported unofficially in Nanking that government army headquarters on the central China front had been withdrawn southwards from Pangpu to Chuhsien.

Peiping, China's "city of imperial glory", was beleaguered on all sides by communist troops on the northern front.

Nevertheless, a government military spokesman claimed Gen. Fu Tso-Yi, nationalist supreme commander in north China, had succeeded in moving all available gar-

Indicate U.S. Regards China As Lost Cause

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—All evidence reaching diplomatic quarters indicated today that the United States is ready to write off the Nationalist government of China as lost.

The chief factor in this conclusion is the cautious State department statement that the 695 Marines en route to Shanghai will act only to protect American lives and to assist in their evacuation.

However, there were other indications. Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, who came to Washington two weeks ago to make a plea for United States aid for her husband's retreating regime may stay indefinitely.

It is understood that Mme. Chiang has been shopping about the Virginia countryside and suburban Washington for a home. Since her arrival she has been a house guest at the estate of Secretary of State George C. Marshall in Leesburg, Va.

General view of the ceremonies at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, this morning, as the "Kitty Hawk", the original Wright brothers' aeroplane, was officially presented to the American people by a representative of the Orville Wright estate. Ross explained that the president is disposing of a "backlog" of

Santa Claus Rides Airlift Into Berlin

BERLIN, Dec. 17.—(INS)—Santa Claus rides the airlift corridor to blockaded Berlin today, discarding reindeer and sleigh for giant four-motored transport planes, courtesy of the U. S. Air Force.

Airlift planes began "operation Santa Claus" in preparation for dozens of Christmas parties which U. S. pilots are staging for Berlin's Soviet-beleaguered children beginning tomorrow.

Continue Four Days

The parties will continue four days. In that time, at least 6,500 German children will get the extra rations the blockade has cut off—ice cream, candy and cake.

At the airlift terminals in the western occupation zone, crew members crammed the goodies, and hundreds of packages of toys, into the nooks and crannies of planes already loaded with vital fuel and food.

Two Long Island, N. Y., men fathered "operation Santa Claus," a strictly unofficial gesture of good will in which thousands of U. S. citizens, at home as well as in Germany, are cooperating.

Soviet Press Is Blasting At France

BERLIN, Dec. 17.—(INS)—The Soviet press in Berlin let go with angry blasts against French authorities today for demolishing the two transmitter towers of the Soviet radio station because they menaced air navigation.

The towers, located in the French sector of Berlin, were blown up yesterday by order of Brig. Gen. Jean Ganeval.

Soviet military authorities redoubled their guard over the administrative offices of the radio station, which are in the British sector.

Russian broadcasts have resumed on an emergency basis, either from Gruneau or Potsdam.

Posse Searches For Man Wanted In Triple Crime

Wayne County Scoured For Man Who Shot Clerk; Stabbed Customer; And Wounded Woman

HARRISBURG, Dec. 17.—(INS)—A 35-man posse of state and county police today was combing rural Wayne county for an ex-convict who last night shot one to death, stabbed another seriously and wounded a woman in a store at Gravity, near Lake Ariel.

Police identified the slayer as Claude (Dyke) Swingle, a paroled murderer.

Swingle fatally shot Layton Brooks, 28, a clerk in the general store of W. J. Cobb, in the course of a quarrel, police said. He stabbed Douglas House, a customer, when House attempted to intervene and then shot Brook's wife, Irene, when she came to the aid of the men, investigators added.

House was reported in "fair" condition with a knife wound in the abdomen at Hahnemann hospital at Scranton. Mrs. Brooks was treated for a bullet wound in the left thigh.

Wayne County Sheriff Ed Reifler said there apparently was no motive for the attack.

MARBURG, Germany, Dec. 17.—(INS)—The prosecution rested today in the trial of Mrs. Wilma Ybarbo for the murder of her sergeant-husband today after a U. S. Army criminal investigator told the court she had confessed the killing.

The witness said Mrs. Ybarbo told him:

"I'm not sorry."

The investigator, W. Chandler, of Miami, Fla., also told a U. S. tribunal trying Mrs. Ybarbo for murder that she owned another pistol, in addition to the murder weapon.

Chandler, testifying under oath, said that Mrs. Ybarbo appeared calm and collected, and "not nervous" as she volunteered a long confession.

SAYRE RETURNING FROM U. N. SESSION

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—House spy probers today summoned Francis B. Sayre, American delegate to the United Nations, to appear Monday for questioning in their Soviet espionage investigation.

Rep. Mundt (R) S. D., acting chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, sent a radiogram to Sayre aboard the S. S. New Amsterdam requesting his appearance and that of his secretary, Anna Belle Newcomb.

Behind Closed Doors

The ship is due to dock in New York Monday. Mundt advised Sayre that if he and Miss Newcomb can not appear the same day, their presence is requested Tuesday. They will be questioned behind closed doors.

Sayre is the U. S. representative in the United Nations trusteeship council. He is now returning from Paris, where the UN recently adjourned.

According to ex-Communist agent Whittaker Chambers, most of the stolen government documents he allegedly received from Alger Hiss for transmission to Russia in 1937 and 1938 came from the office of Sayre, then assistant secretary of state.

Hiss Was Sayre's Secretary

Hiss was Sayre's secretary and has been indicted by a federal grand jury for perjury. The grand jury did not believe Hiss' statement that he never gave the documents to Chambers.

The committee has stated that only four people had access to the documents. They were Sayre, Hiss, Miss Newcomb, and Miss Eunice Lincoln, another secretary in Sayre's office.

Miss Lincoln already has appeared before the committee at a closed session. Committee members subsequently stated that she was not a suspect.

Meanwhile, a committee member

He intimated that Nixon's trip might have some bearing on the Hiss-Chalmers espionage evidence.

And they got together Thursday night, December 16, in the Cathedral for the annual Christmas party.

What can you send the golfer to wreath his face in smiles, what gift would do to be complete, and in the latest styles. Railroad Pay Proposals Are Made By Board

WASHINGTON. Dec. 17.—(INS)—A Presidential Emergency Board today recommended a 40-hour week and a seven-cent hourly pay boost for one million "non-operating" railroad employees.

The three-man panel submitted its recommendations to President Truman at the White House this morning. The board was appointed by Mr. Truman last October to block a threatened walkout of the sixteen non-operating brotherhoods.

The unions still are prohibited from striking for 30 days following the board's report. They are expected to meet in Chicago soon to consider whether to accept the panel's recommendations.

The board's recommendations only partially met the union's demand. The brotherhoods sought a 40-hour week with the same pay they are receiving for 58 hours plus a 25-cent hourly pay boost and other benefits.

"I am happy to say the outlook for 1949 is good and working together as we have, I know things are going to be all right. I wish you all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year".

Ed Shaughnecy was then introduced as the Master of Ceremonies and presented a hour act floor show, a good one. Dancing and cards finished the evening.

For the dinner the dining room of the Cathedral was decorated seasonally. The lights were festooned with icicles, with colored streamers criss crossing the ceiling. At each table were batteries of pine logs in which lighted candles were set with evergreens flanking the set piece.

ANNIVERSARY TO BE OBSERVED

which will be attended by visiting clergy and relatives of Rev. Stancelewski.

High Mass Tuesday

A high mass will be offered by Rev. Stancelewski Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock which will be attended by the parish school children.

For the thirtieth anniversary of Rev. Stancelewski's ordaination, Pope Pius XII has sent his special blessing.

Rev. Stancelewski is not a native of New Castle but he has spent more than half his life here. He was born in Pittsburgh and attended the Holy Family Parochial school. He graduated from Duquesne University and then entered St. Vincent's Seminary from which he was graduated in 1918, and ordained.

After his ordaination he first served as curate of St. Michael's and Madonna parishes in New Castle and at St. Josaphat's in Pittsburgh. In 1922 he was sent to New Castle to organize a congregation here in the Terrace avenue district.

The field was a virgin field in that there was no church in the district and Rev. Stancelewski set about organizing and preparing to build a church.

The work was hard but it was challenging and with the aid of his people, both financially and as craftsmen, St. Philip and James' church was built. It was completed and dedicated in 1928 by the Most Rev. Bishop Hugh C. Boyle of Pittsburgh.

Added Other Buildings

A rectory was added, then a recreation hall and then a convent and school. Several years ago the Terrace avenue public school was taken over by St. Philip and James' and is in use today.

In addition to his busy life as a priest of St. Philip and James', Rev. Stancelewski has found time to aid in worthwhile civic projects in New Castle. He is a member of the Kiwanis club, a member of the Boy Scout executive board, has been active in the Greater New Castle Association, and is a director of the Community Chest, Cancer Society and the Anti-Tuberculosis League here.

He is the founder and publisher of the "Pulpit", is president of the Polish Priests Homiletic Society of Pittsburgh and Skarga Homiletic Society of the United States and Canada. He organized the Lawrence County Priests' Forum and is a director of the Holy Name Society District 10, Lawrence county.

He is a director of the Catholic Religious Relief League to Poland and of the Polish-American Congress (Displaced Persons). In 1938 he was decorated by the Polish government in Warsaw with the high order of "Polonia Restitua".

The life of Rev. Stancelewski and St. Philip and James' church are intertwined. He came here as a young priest and organized a church which today is a thriving, vital force in the community. Now he marks his thirtieth anniversary as a priest and of these thirty years 26 have been spent in New Castle.

Another of the meanest thieves has been active in the Croton section of the city. Some miscreant has stolen approximately 30 of the decorative bulbs from around the honor roll and Christmas tree that was erected on the plot Wednesday. Seems as though no sense of honor exists among some, who take such steps as stealing from war memorials.

Christmas programs in most of the schools about the city will be given today in order to clear the way for dismissal of school next Tuesday for the holiday period. Parties in the individual class rooms will take place on Monday, winding up the celebrations in the schools.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—When William S. Murphy, Harvard class of '85, died 33 years ago he left funds to pay for the education at "Harvard "of any young man or men named Murphy." Since then, five Murphys a year have been graduated with their tuition paid by Murphy scholarships.

South Side Church Choir Enjoys Party

Choir of Central Christian church, East Long avenue, met Thursday evening in the church for their Christmas party with 27 members present. Mrs. Arthur McClain, Mrs. Coy Price and Miss Mary Elizabeth Norris were the hostesses. The group enjoyed a delicious meal served by the committee. Santa Claus was on hand and presented each member with a gift.

The annual business meeting took place with Mrs. Coy Price in charge. The following officers were elected, with Rev. J. N. Rainey presiding: president, Mrs. Clarence Frey; vice president, Mrs. Ray Gosney; secretary, Mrs. Oliver Frost; assistant, Mrs. Andrew Cromie; treasurer, Elmer Glass; assistant, Mary E. Norris; flower treasurer, Clarence Frey.

The choir moved to the church auditorium where the final rehearsal for the Christmas program Sunday morning, December 19, took place. The next meeting will be on January 20, with Mrs. Henry Jenkins and Mrs. Dan Garrity, hostesses.

Mr. And Mrs. Joseph Gilmore Celebrate 57th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gilmore, of 605 North Cedar street, celebrated their 57th wedding anniversary, on Wednesday, the event being quietly observed because of the fact that neither are in good health.

Mr. and Mrs Gilmore were married on December 15, 1891, by Rev. Edmunds, pastor of the First M. E. church here, in the parsonage on North Mercer street. They moved into their newly built home on North Cedar street, where they have resided continuously since that time. They are members of the Mahoning Methodist church, and when able, always took an active part in all church activities.

Mrs. Gilmore has been confined to bed most of the past three years from the effects of a broken arm and hip, sustained in a fall.

Mr. Gilmore, who was a plasterer, served the city in the capacity of chief of police under Mayor Harry Lusk, and later was one of the first paid councilmen to be elected to that office. Later, he engaged in business as a plastering contractor, until his retirement several years ago.

Although Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore had intended keeping the date of their wedding anniversary quiet, a number of friends and relatives remembered the occasion and sent flowers and cards.

They have only one child, Dr. Richard Claire Gilmore, and one grandson, Dr. Richard Horton Gilmore, who entertained at dinner at 6:30 o'clock Wednesday evening, the delicious repast being prepared by Mrs. Richard Claire Gilmore. The evening hours were spent informally.

ROUND-UP CLUB HAS YULE PARTY

The annual Christmas party for the Round-Up club members was held Thursday evening in the South Mill street club rooms, the singing of carols opening the festivities. Mrs. Nicholas Tuscano was at the piano.

Mrs. Clotilda Ross was Santa Claus, and she distributed the secret pals gifts. President Mrs. William Russo was given a gift, and she presented remembrances to each member.

The delicious meal was served on a beautifully arranged table, with holiday colors predominating. Those in charge of the meal were: Mrs. Charles Sbarro, Mrs. Frank Ross, Mrs. Louis Ross, Mrs. Pat Scopio and Mrs. Ben Ciccone. Mrs. Thomas Maciarello aided.

Gifts were placed underneath the holiday tree, where the Bethlehem scene was also arranged. An exchange was held. Later cards were played and Mrs. A. J. Capezio won the prize. Mrs. Joseph Diana captured the club token.

Installation of officers will be held Thursday, Jan. 13, and hostesses will be Mrs. Anthony Bullano, Mrs. Angelo Sands, Mrs. James Copple, Mrs. Charles Petrucci and Mrs. Carl Richards.

WALMO GARDEN CLUB DECEMBER LUNCHEON

Walmo Garden club was entertained for its December meeting Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Theo Speck, with Mrs. Marshall Curran as co-hostess. Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock.

In answer to roll call members told their favorite Christmas evergreen. A gift exchange, in charge of Mrs. Gerald Earl was a feature. During business several members reported on the annual Christmas display of the Youngstown Garden Forum which they attended.

Mrs. Lyle Hughes, general chairman of the Garden Council of Lawrence County Christmas display, open to the public today from 1 to 9 p.m. told of the final plans.

Mrs. W. C. Hileman, incoming president, named committees for 1949. They are: program, Mrs. Richard Marquis, Mrs. William Mooney, and Mrs. Frank Daugherty; telephone, Mrs. Fred Moser, Mrs. Kenneth Cotton, Mrs. Paul Keeley, and Mrs. W. A. Foht; membership, Mrs. A. H. Mellor and Mrs. Leon Dover; flower, Mrs. Marshall Curran and Mrs. Sam Mooney; garden council, Mrs. Lyle Hughes, Mrs. N. J. McCluskey, and Miss Margaret Moser.

"GOVERNMENTS CANNOT MAKE NATIONS RICH"

"I adhere to the school of those who believe that governments cannot make nations rich, that wealth is gathered only by individual exertion and enterprise, that state expenditure is almost always profligate and wasteful, and that the more freedom enjoyed by the citizen and the less the interference of the state the higher will be the standard of the public well-being."

That is taken from an article which appeared in Collier's more than 12 years ago. It was written by Winston Churchill who, shortly thereafter, was to become the leader of the British Commonwealth in the greatest crisis the modern world has known.

Since that time, almost the entire world has become an unhappy example of Mr. Churchill's truism. The prosperity and well-being of peoples has gone down in direct ratio to the increase in the power and prerogatives of states. And, of far greater importance, these material losses have been accompanied by ruthless destruction of human liberty, and by the degradation of the individual.

Recently—since the Labor Government came to power in England, and this country started her vast program of aid to Europe—Mr. Churchill made another statement which should be read and re-read everywhere. It is this: "How the ministers can deride the system of free enterprise and capitalism which makes America great and wealthy, and then at the same time eagerly seek the aid which has hitherto been so generously granted from across the Atlantic—that is a grimace which baffles the limitation of our language to explain."

EFFECTS FAR-REACHING

After a conference with officials entrusted with the national defense, President Truman has let it be known once again that he intends to hold military expenditures down to $15,000,000,000 during the next fiscal year. This is approximately $8,000,000,000 less than the Army, Navy and Air Force have asked for.

If Congress follows the President's lead, it will be necessary to set up a new security plan. The first and easiest change naturally will affect the draft. Quotas for January and February have been cut from previous estimates. Obviously fewer youths will be conscripted if Congress holds expenditures to the more reasonable figure.

Holding expenditures to $15,000,000,000—approximately $2,000,000,000 more than expenditures during the present fiscal year—will be felt in other fields. Manufacturers of airplanes will not get all the orders they have been expecting. Industries which supply the Army with food, clothing and equipment will receive smaller orders than they expected. Firms which build tanks, guns, ships, etc., will likewise be held near present levels in government orders.

All this could mean a diminution of the threat of increased inflation. It could, in fact, start a chain reaction toward the lower prices which city dwellers were promised in the recent campaign.

MATTER OF POLITICS?

Now that the smoke of political battle has cleared away there are a few G.O.P. statesmen in Congress who could, if they were inclined, say "I told you so." These are the solons who, back in the summer of 1948, advised the Republican leaders to let President Truman have his way when he was suggesting certain legislation to which the Republicans were opposed in principle. Some of the President's suggestions, it was maintained, were so unsound that they would have brought about a political reaction against him had they been enacted into law at his insistence.

The President's proposal for price regulation is a case in point. Some G.O.P. statesmen believed that when the President was pressing for a price control enactment Congress should pass a resolution giving him authority to enact price control and rationing regulations whenever he saw fit. They would, in short, have dumped the entire price problem into his lap and made him take the consequences for whatever might happen.

The Republican leadership, however, turned down such a proposal on the ground that they were opposed to such controls in principle and that to enact them might injure the country. . .

It is interesting to speculate on what might have happened had Mr. Truman been given this regulatory authority by Congress. Either he would have established price control or he would not have done so. Had he refused to put controls into effect he would have been open to criticism from left-wing leaders and short-sighted consumers over the country. But if he had put controls into effect scarcities might have ensued which would have angered the consumers just as they did back in 1946. In any event there would have been a slump in grain and livestock prices in September and October—it happened, anyhow—and Mr. Truman would have been given the blame by the farmers.

Of course, Mr. Truman didn't get the standby controls, and we can only speculate on what might have happened. But since Governor Dewey lost the election anyhow in the biggest upset of the century it is interesting to speculate on what might have happened under different circumstances.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

Gen. Lucius D. Clay's strong denial that there is any possibility of Germany being rearmed by the western powers was certain to be greeted with belief and enthusiasm by France today.

But whether this represented any major change of policy by the United States and Great Britain regarding the immense war potentials of the Ruhr Valley remains to be seen.

And until this point is clarified beyond all shadow of confusion and doubt, the absence of complete and unqualified cooperation among the three western powers on the subject of Germany seems certain to continue.

Filled With Rumors

Newspapers in the Allied zones of Germany have been filled recently with rumors and reports of some measure of German rearmament, despite the fact this is expressly forbidden under four-power agreements covering the surrender in 1945 of what was left of Adolf Hitler's once "greater Reich."

These were the offshoots of two developments.

One was the ever-widening rift between East and West which promises to reach its climax when the Soviets create an eastern German state held in bondage to the Soviet by a specially trained and indoctrinated police force of 250,000 German Communists.

The other was decision by Gen. Clay and Lieut. Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, British military governor, to maintain control of the Ruhr industries at present but eventually to turn them over to private German ownership or western German government trusteeship.

Protested by France

This was protested immediately and vigorously by France.

That nation, while recognizing the importance of the Ruhr as an indispensable factor in eventual European rehabilitation, views the Ruhr principally as a German arsenal. It served as such in 1871, in 1914 and in 1939, and in each case France subsequently was invaded and twice defeated.

The U. S. and Britain are believed to have made concessions to the justified fears of the French nation. They are said to have agreed that final disposition of the Ruhr shall be a matter for a general peace conference on Germany to decide.

But even here, France is left in a state of suspended animation.

Unless there is to be a complete severance of normal relations between Soviet Russia and the western powers, Moscow must be represented at that peace conference. And mere mention of the Ruhr is certain to revive Russia's down demand for a voice in its administration and production.

May Have Been Plan

Some thing of this sort may have been in the minds of Gen. Clay and Gen. Robertson when they sought to make the Ruhr valley a western European preserve.

A formalized agreement on its peacetime functioning might have

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CURING A SPELLING DIFFICULTY

Just think how much you and I would know if only we had our bits of knowledge unscrambled. But much of it is so mixed-up as to be useless. Besides, some of the things we think we know are so confused as to get us in to trouble sometimes and cause us painful embarrassment, especially when our confusion brings gales of laughter from others.

Some years ago the American Journal of Psychology carried a study of mine entitled "Confusion in Recall." This article contained a vast amount of data on actual confusions revealed by students preparing to teach in the public schools of New York City, of Noah Webster, with Daniel Webster, for example. Every teacher who reads test papers sees like samples of such confusions.

A few years later, a college colleague of mine on a university staff, by the name of Webster, was visiting in an elementary school in a large city. As he was about to leave the teacher said to the children, "We have a great man with us today, the man that wrote the dictionary, Mr. Webster." And she wasn't joking!

Many Confusions

Many children and not a few adults have many confusions over the spellings of such homonyms as their and there, to, too, two. A very common trouble the child beginning to read and spell has is confusion of such pairs of letters as b and d, p and q. Some poor readers or spellers of the third or fourth grade still are confounded over such letters—which reminds me that a farmer uncle of mine would would never let himself utter conventional profanity but would think nothing of saying, "Confound that pig." He once said to me when as a lad I annoyed him, "Confound you." He hardly could have cursed the pig or me more violently. I've seen a pig suffer over being confounded, as when failing to find the hole it went through in a fence. And as for myself, when I am confused over a pair of words, I'm very uncomfortable.

Suppose your child confuses 'd' with 'b' or 'there' with 'their' and the like. You probably will work with him or both of the confused members of each pair together. You will show him how 'd' is printed differently from 'b,' show him a word beginning with 'd,' then another beginning with 'b,' comparing them in all sorts of ways. Well, all school books seem to do likewise, alas!

Which Is Which

But after you have practiced him repeatedly in this way he still may confuse 'b' and 'd'. He easily sees that while the curve on one letter turns one way, the curve on the other letter turns the opposite way. But he still may not know which is the one and which is the other.

If you wish to use good horse sense, do it this way! Have the child center on only one of the letters, keeping the other letter out of sight and hearing in the meanwhile. Let him print 'b,' for example, find all the words he can on a page containing 'b', name all the words he can beginning with 'b,' and so on. Then merely show him 'd' and how it is different without dwelling long or often on the comparison. Once he thoroughly knows one of the letters of the pair, the other just isn't that one. I wish parents and teachers would try this simple way and write me of their results. Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

"Gee, it must be wonderful to be a moron," I said to my wife. "You certainly ought to know," she replied with that sphinx-like smile that only a woman who has been married oh so many years can have on her face and get by without being murdered.

I had just listened on the radio to a rendition of that most horrible of things "The Dying Swan," composed, I believe, by Saint-Seans.

If you have ever attended a school concert you have seen it danced by one of the kids.

If you have ever been to an amateur show you have seen it danced.

If you have ever been to a ballet performance, you have seen it danced.

In my early newspaper days I had to "cover" a lot of these affairs.

And so I have seen that "Dying Swan" danced by every kind of dancer and would-be dancer.

I have seen it danced by knock-kneed and bow-legged ballerinas; I have seen it danced by ballerinas of five and fifty years of age.

Whenever that final flutter comes along and the prima donna of the moment finally collapses on the floor—and a dying swan, I have a desperate urge to rush upon the stage with a giant butcher knife, to make sure that she will not be only a dying but a dead swan and that there will be absolutely no possibility to do an encore.

But this is what brought about my yearning to be a moron and my wife's crack about being an expert.

After I had seen and heard that "Dying Swan" a couple of hundred times, I developed a phobia.

Whenever I hear it played on the radio now, for some reason or other, I haven't the strength to turn it off.

Instead, I grab the nearest bedsheet or table cloth or bath-towel, drape it around my shoulders and over my head, and do the "Dying Swan" in my own inimitable way.

And you may be assured that my own inimitable way of doing the "Dying Swan" is such that, if I did it in public, the eightieth Congress would immediately assemble in special session and pass a law making the dancing or playing of the "Dying Swan" a Federal offense subject to several years of imprisonment.

I am sure Mr. Truman would veto such a law, even if it were passed by this pet Congress of his, before it, too, does the "Dying Swan" act.

I freely admit that this phobia

One Man's Opinion

Joe Louis is waiting until June for Santa. . . He is asking for a pair of gloves, an opponent and $250,000 of the television and radio take.

The present field of challengers might be worth $2.50 to some spendthrift network if they all would get in the ring with Louis at the same time.

But radio is in another state of flux anyway. . . With this capital-gains business a performer is apt to wind up either on the big board or the curb.

I don't think radio daily and the Wall Street Journal will merge but I hear Hooper's rating now comes on ticker tape.

And one agency starts its auditions with "what was your last 'bid' and 'asked'?"

Meanwhile the frantic search goes on for new faces. . . preferably on old performers

WHEN, O WHEN!

(Written in Dec., 1945)

Silence, like a garment of mist, hung
Around the shoulder of the Judean hill;
The dark midnight sky was dotted with stars
That shone like glowing candles—calm and still.
Shepherds tended their flocks in sheltered coves
Where olive and fig trees slanted their shadow
Across the valley, and Bethlehem slept,
Wholly unaware of time's Holy tableau.

Then a star glowed bright over Bethlehem,
And there came shepherds, prophets, and Magi,
To place gifts beside a lowly manger—gifts
For a new born baby, born to convey
Peace to a grave, turbulent world of doubt,
Hope out of chaos, faith in destiny—
The Prince of Peace had at last come to heal
A confused world of lost humanity.

The gold-gray dawn of the new day covered
The silence; the wayward tide of the age
Was turned and spread its glowing brilliancy
Over the ones who made the pilgrimage,
To offer their gifts to the infant Jesus.
Years of confusion lay behind the light,
And the veil that man held over hope and life
Was torn away on that glad, Holy night.

Silence again hangs like a garment of mist
Over the rim of civilization;
The veil that once was lifted by a star,
Is now studded deep with fear and confusion,
And the world is waiting in a gray dawn
For peace, just as it waited years ago
For a Savior to be born. When, O when,
Will the veil over peace be raised to glow?

Spy Threat Getting Serious

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

South Faces Tide Of Change

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—In the charming old city of Savannah, Ga., the southern governors have been meeting. They stand embattled, in a state of siege, against the irresistible tide of change.

That is the real meaning of the concessions they have made to the shifting trend of opinion. If the step they took the other day had been made 10 years ago or even five years ago, and voluntarily, it would have been hailed as a major social advance.

What the southern governors' conference agreed to was a regional compact under which the southern states will finance higher education for Negroes. The largest item approved was $600,000 to be contributed to Meharry Medical School for Negroes at Nashville, Tenn. The conference also recommended $355,000 for regional veterinary, schools at the University of Georgia, Oklahoma A. & M. and Tuskeegee Institute for Negroes.

Must Offer Equal Chance

The United States Supreme Court has held that the states must offer equal educational opportunities to Negroes when they ask for such opportunity. Obviously, each state cannot afford to set up a separate Negro medical school or a separate Negro engineering school. The regional school to be attended by Negroes from all over the south is a workable compromise.

The southern answer to federal legislation is always: You must let us do these things in our own way since you cannot understand our problem. But change seems to come only when there is the kind of pressure the Supreme Court has applied.

For the south this matter of timing is crucial. Southern states are at present on a kind of divided between the past and future. Great changes have occurred and even greater changes are about to occur.

Shift In Population

Most significant of all is the shift in population that is taking place. During the war the southern states barely held their own, population wise, while other regions were showing extraordinary gains. Reports indicate that the outward movement is continuing particularly among Negroes who are migrating to the north to join friends and relatives.

The mechanical cotton picker, which is beginning to come into its own since the war, will displace thousands of field hands. They are not likely to remain in the south. Or only those with the least initiative and ambition will stay behind.

A region cannot grow and develop without human resources. One of the reasons for the remarkable development on the West Coast, where population gains of 40 per cent and more have been recorded, is the high calibre of the new immigrants settling there.

Among them are many Negroes who have gone into areas where before the war they were scarcely represented at all. In general, this revolutionary population change seems to be working out satisfactorily in spite of the lack of housing and the resultant crowding.

Explanation For Shift

So long as people can move about freely in this country they will go, no matter what their color or creed, where there is opportunity and a chance for decent treatment. The explanation of the shift of peoples that is taking place is as simple as that.

It is here that the matter of timing comes in. This is a late date to be complying with the Supreme Court ruling. The time now is to come forward with a

They Say

WASHINGTON — Mario A. Esquical, Costa Rican ambassador to the U. S. . . . "Democracy is being preserved in America and brute strength will no longer prevail in the new world."

WASHINGTON — Rep. Rankin (R) Miss., member of the House Un-American Activities Committee. . . "I think if the committee goes on we may open a whole pandora's box of treason and espionage."

WASHINGTON — Robert G. Dunlop, president of the Sun Oil Company. . . "An excess profits tax would curb the industrial expansion required if America is to prosper. . . It would have the same effect as a law directly prohibiting further industrial expansion."

STONINGTON, Conn. — Vivian Kellems, Connecticut industrialist . . . "If Congress should pass a law compelling me to dig a ditch for the Internal Revenue Department, and, adding insult to injury, compel me to buy the shovel with which to dig, I doubt if Treasury Secretary Snyder could enforce it."

WE HOPE NOT

Carl R. Gray, Jr., who heads the Veterans' Administration, hotly denies that there are any Commies in it. New Christmas Toy Ideas

By PAUL GALLICO

I was reading an ad for Christmas toys in the paper the other day in which for a most reasonable price, thirteen ninety-five, to be exact, a store was offering a 36-piece electric train set with transformer; but what fascinated me was not so much the low tag on it as the educational concept manifested, as far as I know for the first time.

For along with tracks and locomotive and freight cars, the manufacturer was offering a large number of accessories to railroading which included a station, girdered bridge, semaphore, water tower, crossing signs and gate, watchman's house with watchman, taxi and no-parking signs, tool shed, waiting room, etc.

Large Billboards Too

And to me the most enchanting of all was the inclusion of three large billboard signs advertising a cigarette, a bread and a motor car.

This is where I feel the manufacturer has hit the jackpot and is so far ahead of his competitors that they will never catch up. For his product no longer is but a toy. It contains, and without seeming to do so, the germs of a liberal education and the acquainting of the young and unlearned with the facts of adult life in the most innocent and charming fashion.

For it is saying to the young one in effect: "Well, my lad, this is a railroad, and when you grow up you will be riding on one just like this and gazing out of the windows. Do not, innocent one, come to manhood nursing the idea that what you will see will be lush green countryside, cozy little farms, or patches of forest with perhaps a brook running through it, or a distant and nostalgic vista of blue hills, or towering white-capped mountains.

What You Will See

"No, sonny. What you will see when peering through the window of the choo-choo car in which you will be riding will be billboards. Miles of them. Sometimes it will seem as though you are riding between two solid rows of billboards and outdoor hoardings and advertising signs which indeed you will be, for that is the scenery of today or at least what we have made of it.

"Study well these samples we have given you in this Christmas toy along with the bridge and the water tower and the semaphore so that when you encounter them in wholesale quantities on your first trip from here to there you will recognize them and have that secure, cozy, comfortable feeling that all's right with your world.

Will Encounter Multitude

"You will encounter billboards commending to you chewing gum, beer, malt spirits, hotels, taverns, hair nets, candidates for office, chomping tobacco, fruit juices, nail polish, moving pictures, soaps, air travel, depilatories, hair tonic, silverware, radios, headache pills and cold tablets, wristwatches and a hundred other valuable items of commerce. Mile upon mile upon mile, there is no end to the messages for you that will be reared alongside the railroad tracks.

"Ignore those glimpses of interesting-looking little homes, or ponds with ducks swimming on them, or a hillside, yellow and purple with spring flowers, that you will catch between them from time to time. For men have worked long and hard to create these messages and others equally long to set them up where you can see them and you must give them your complete attention or you will not be living modern life and keeping up with your responsibilities".

Ought To Be Expanded

I think this noble idea ought to be expanded and that when the toy shop prepares, let us say, a toy shop or store for the young it ought to come with two or three toy pickets complete with signs to set up outside.

A steam-shovel is the delight of the growing child. It would prepare him for later life if it came equipped with a mannikin-sized walking delegate. It is no longer sufficient to give a replica toy automobile. This item too calls for accessories such as the waiting ambulance, the hospital bed complete with toy nurse holding the thermometer, or at the very least a goggled motorcycle policeman with an open summons book.

But I have indicated what can be done. You take it from there.

(Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

State Police Say:

Let's take a look at this "unavoidable accident" business. How many accidents really are unavoidable? Traffic accidents result from a great many cases. We know that accidents result when drivers are careless about when and where they pass; that speed is a contributing factor in a majority of accidents; and that driving too fast for prevailing conditions is, and has been, the prime fly in the safety ointment. These, then, just to mention a few, are the tangibles which are reflected as the major causes of traffic accidents. But the intangibles of "why" and "how" are most important. Why was the driver speeding? Why did he attempt to pass when there was not sufficient clear distance ahead? Why was he driving over the center line of the pavement? Was the CAUSE of the accident unavoidable? "Unavoidable accident are unavoidable only after the chain of circumstances which terminate in the accident are set in motion by the driver himself.

SANTA'S RESIDENCE

'Tis in the heart the Old Boy lives
And in the wish to gladden,
For he is Santa Claus who gives
His time to cheer the sadden.

The Christmas stockings filled with toys
Set children's faces glowing,
But there are countless other joys
That Santa comes bestowing.

For many a home will gayer be,
Though proud or humble is it,
Where in the eyes it's plain to see
That Santa's paid a visit.

Let children think that at the Pole
He lives, as oft we're telling,
But it is in the heart and soul
Old Santa has his dwelling.

The World and the Mud Puddles

AND THEN THE PRINTING PRESSES

Taking it for granted that the basis of inflation is an excess of demand over supply for essential commodities, a situation has arisen in regard to the Berlin agreement and the deterioration into a cold war among several subscribers to the United Nations, due to the fact of Soviet Russia's insistence that they were in Berlin first and should have the principal say as to how the general citizens of Berlin should be handled and because we don't think that way, believing that the Germans should have a share, at least, in the way they should be governed, the Soviets have resisted with a willful waste of arguments.

We have formulated what we call the Marshall Plan for European recovery in passing out money, food and supplies and the same situation calls for the appropriation of many more billion dollars on the assumption that present conditions may result in World War III.

May Need Billions More

Our European relief and rebuilding plan calls for some fifteen billion dollars, which may be stretched by several more billion, primarily for foodstuffs, machinery, steel, oil and other commodities.

Both of these programs involve the withdrawing from the market of our domestic housewives and householders foodstuffs and other materials running into vast sums. The draft bill alone will add several billions to our expenses in providing for the training, arming and maintenance of new members of the Armed Forces. The defense program involves the use of vast quantities of steel, aluminum, copper, chemicals and other materials which will be deducted from civilian supplies.

The inevitable result of these combined programs is to create shortages of supply for the things needed or wanted by our own people. When the shortage comes at a time when the vast majority of citizens have ample means to buy broad proposal covering the whole civil-rights issue; a proposal that would be within the framework of the southern way of life.

Failure to act will mean more federal coercion. President Truman is reported to be determined to push the civil-rights program at the earliest opportunity. He is deeply conscious of the fact that the Negro vote in a half dozen states had a great deal to do with his re-election.

Filibuster Likely

Perhaps a filibuster by southern diehards in the Senate can block for a time at least the measures the south finds most noxious. That kind of deliberate obstructionism has worked before.

But there is no kind of filibuster than can prevent the draining off of what has been one of the south's chief assets in attracting industry—a generous labor reserve. If the war between the south and the federal government grows hotter, that process may even be speeded up.

In the meeting at Savannah 15 southern states also agreed to establish a southern foundation to inform the nation "correctly" about the south. That could be very useful if the foundation were really to get beneath the charm of the Magnolias and the moonlight to talk about the facts of life.

what they want, it is inevitable that commodities should be high and dollars correspondingly cheap.

No Mystery To It

There is nothing mysterious about it, nothing partisan. If we spend billions to send our commodities to Europe and more billions to arm ourselves for defense there will more and more money in circulation and less and less goods available for purchase with our money.

We are definitely committed both to European expenditures and defense expenditures. To undertake making a political issue of this phase of inflation, in the circumstances, is a confession of demagoguery or ignorance.

Nothing is said about the printing presses busy in Washington—busier than ever. When the government needs some money and they don't have it, they just print it. When are we going to put a stop to the printing presses?

LOOKING AT LIFE

of mine is something very suspicious and I did go to consult a psychiatrist.

"My dear man," he said, "There is nothing the matter with you. Thousands of men share your feelings a bout classical music and the ballet. Thousands of men would like to see an anti-ballet and anti-symphony law passed. If Dewey had put that in his platform he would have been elected by a large majority."

Two weeks ago the Metropolitan Opera opened in New York. The first performance was "Otello".

My wife asked me whether my Tuxedo was pressed.

The "Dying Swan" is bad enough, but "Otello"—

There is a fellow who WAS a moron.

And for two hours he sings about it!

"SHEEP AND WOLVES"

Wolves are go getters. They know what they want and they go after it.

Sheep are timid and meek. A flock of sheep is no match for a pack of wolves.

Although wolves are so aggressive and sheep are so mild there is no question as to which are worth most in the world.

It is said that the meek shall inherit the earth, if there is anything left when the wolves get through with it.

Sheep are valuable in a good many ways. Mutton is useful as a food.

Protein is necessary to keep the body in good condition. Mutton is a good source of protein.

There are many different kinds of meat. They all provide about the same kind of nourishment. They vary somewhat in texture and flavor.

People in some countries prefer mutton to all other kinds of meat.

In this country we have a variety. For those who like mutton it provides a generous supply of valuable things.

IN VIEW OF NEWS

excluded Soviet interference if reached in advance of the peace treaty.

The western allies always could justify it on the grounds that Russia obtained and has held unilaterial control of the industrial areas of Silesia, to say nothing of the immense armament resources of Czechoslovakia whose Skoda works even now are said to be supplying implements of war to Palestine and elsewhere.

The seemingly clear plans of Russia to remilitarize eastern Germany as a police state has produced another of those awkward situations with which it is so difficult for the allies to cope.

They could, of course, fight fire with fire and do the same in the western zones as the Russians are doing in the east. But this might merely have the effect of dividing Germany into two armed camps, possibly an even more dangerous situation than that which exists at present, where the differences are chiefly political, ideological and opportunistic.

In any case, France has been assured that for the present at least there is to be no German "watch on the Rhine."

CLEAN OVEN

If your oven is spattered with grease after cooking a roast in it, let it cool thoroughly, then put two cups of soapy water in a shallow pan, add three tablespoons of household ammonia, place pan in the oven and close the door. Leave it overnight. Next morning the ammonia fumes will have dissolved much of the grease and the oven may be cleaned with a minimum of effort.

The largest telescopes can make the moon appear only 24 miles away.

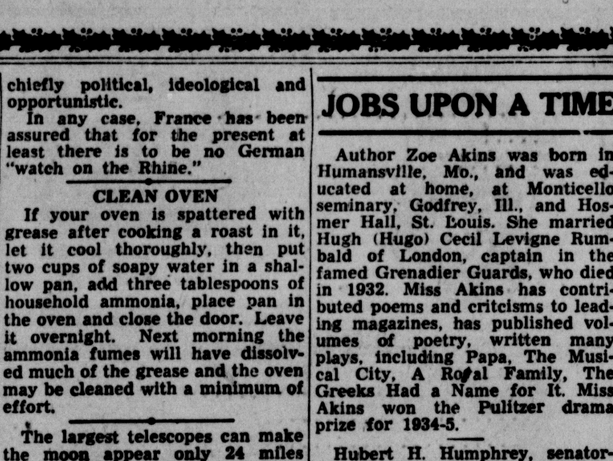

JOBS UPON A TIME

Author Zoe Akins was born in Humansville, Mo., and was educated at home, at Monticello seminary, Godfrey, Ill., and Hosmer Hall, St. Louis. She married Hugh (Hugo) Cecil Levigne Rumbald of London, captain in the famed Grenadier Guards, who died in 1932. Miss Akins has contributed poems and criticisms to leading magazines, has published volumes of poetry, written many plays, including Papa, The Musical City, A Royal Family, The Greeks Had a Name for It. Miss Akins won the Pulitzer drama prize for 1934-5.

Hubert H. Humphrey, senator-elect from Minnesota, was born in Elk River, Minn., but was educated in South Dakota. Humphrey took his degree from Denver College of Pharmacy, his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Minneapolis, and his master's degree from the University of Louisiana. Senator-elect Humphrey was a practicing pharmacist from 1933-37, state director of war production training and reemployment and state chief of the Minnesota war services program 1942. He was assistant director of the War Manpower Commission in 1943; then professor of political science of Macalester college from 1943-44. He served as a radio news commentator in 1944-45. Humphrey is a three-term mayor of Minneapolis although he is only 37.

Pre-Christmas Doings Down At St. Petersburg

By JAMES P. CALDWELL

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Dec. 14.—First familiar faces I have seen on the green benches this season were those of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Smith, former residents of New Castle's classic Wallace avenue. He is 88 and she is 84. Birthdays have become so common to them that they scarcely interrupt the joy of living. Mr. Smith never used tobacco or liquor. Mrs. Smith doesn't even chew gum, although she could very well do so, for she still has the original set of teeth with which nature endowed her. She says they still come handy in eating corn from the cob.

This is the 25th year for the Smiths on the green benches, so the Florida sunshine has them pretty well baked. They will celebrate their 64th wedding anniversary soon. In case you want to come down, or sent them a dead chicken, they are at 426 Fourth avenue, North.

Some New Castleites

Other New Castle residents who have arrived so far this season are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kirkwood, Mr. and Mrs. Earl L. Patton, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Minich, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Rape, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. James G. Clements, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Foster, Mrs. John Sechler and Mrs. M. M. Floyd. Among the latest arrivals is Mrs. John Emery, who is stopping at the Floronton hotel. Her husband was too busy to accompany her but will be down about the first of the year. David Lewis also arrived last week and has picked out a soft pine bench.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hart, who spent last winter at Largo, near here, are back in St. Petersburg for the winter. Chester Reynolds has succeeded in renting all his apartments, and is now devoting his time to fishing and making garden. He has some trouble distinguishing cucumber seed from onion, but solved the problem by calling in J. G. Clements, thus proving the truth of the old saying that two heads are better than one.

The Green Benches

The green benches have had a coat of fresh paint. Most would-be sitters touch them with their fingers first, as a safety measure. Nobody seems to want to get paint on the wrong place. As usual many of the women sit facing Tampa Bay, looking for their ships to come in. Men don't seem to care which way they face, not being as much interested in ships as they are in schooners. What does concern them seems to be their heads, especially the outside of the shell. They bare their heads hoping the sun will do what tonics have failed to do. But the sun don't seem to care a hoot, and hands out blisters instead of hair.

Christmas Contrast

With perspiration trickling down your back, and overflowing your shoe tops, it is rather hard down here to realize that it is the Christmas season. Most of the weary shoppers are from the north and are used to snow and ice. But here and there in the shop windows blandly sits Santa Claus, mopping his brow, and saying "ha ha" to the gaping crowd. His reindeers he's left up north, but is giving his presents in the modern way, by parcel post. From indications here it looks as if everybody in the north is going to get something. For days there have been three long lines at the postoffice. Another reason why it is hard to realize it is the Christmas season is that flowers are blooming everywhere. Men are in shirtwaists and women are in as little as possible, and some of them hardly that much.

More Tourists Here

So far this season the crowd in St. Petersburg is several thousand above that at the same time last year. The big influx will come after Christmas. Many like to travel on a full stomach.

Accommodations are plentiful at present, both in the hotels and rooming houses. Apartments are pretty well occupied and are a little hard to get. Trailer camps are larger than usual, accounted for by the high cost of keeping alive. Eats are no higher than in your home town for like fodder. Many would-be visitors write down to friends to secure them rooms. This is a hard proposition. Owners will not hold rooms unless deposits are made. And the person looking for a room does not know if it will suit the prospective occupant. The best thing to do, if you are coming down here is to engage a room for a night or two, while you look around for something that suits you.

One Class Hard Hit

One class of tourists that has been hard hit has been pensioners. Before the war thousands of them spent their winters in St. Petersburg. Teachers alone accounted for over one thousand annually. Then there are large numbers of retired steel workers, railroaders, policemen, firemen and others. Most of them relied chiefly on their pensions. Today they must lean more heavily on their savings, and if they don't happen to have anything in their socks, they must chew their cuds at home.

Happily most of them seem to have been thrifty, and large numbers are still to be found on the green benches. I have talked with many of them and find that the great majority would rather be able to hold down their old jobs than wear out a green bench on a pension not sufficient to sustain them. They hope Uncle Sam will boost it until they will not have to provide anything but their own tooth brushes.

Seen On Beaches

Bathing beaches around St. Petersburg are drawing huge crowds. The water is warm and the sand is hot, to say nothing of old Sol's blistering rays, which make it hazardous for new bathers to expose their charms more than ten minutes at a time. Some seek shelter in the water; others in the sand. It takes a couple of weeks to ripen into an Indian tan.

One of the novel features of the beaches is the large number of grandpas and grandmas in bathing togs. They far outnumber the younger set. Grandma in a modern bathing suit seems to feel a little embarrassed, and is rather shaky under the eye of the camera. Grandpa seems to imagine that he is a brother of Neptune, whether he has the makings or not, and hides his emotions under his whiskers.

Bathing Suit Changes

When grandma learned to swim the feminine apparel was not called a bathing suit, but a "gown", usually an old cast off dress, reaching to the ground. Those were the good old days, before the human form divine went on display, and modesty was considered a virtue.

Three quarters of a century ago you were more likely to find grandpa sitting on the front porch complacently smoking his pipe, and grandma plying her knitting needles, than on the bathing beaches. But with the passing of years customs have changed. Grandpa and grandma still have birthdays, but have quit counting the years. Down here in St. Petersburg there are thousands of elderly people swimming, fishing, shuffling, dancing, pitching horse shoes and taking part in other games. With the aid of beauty shops its hard to tell a grandma from a bobby soxer, or a grandpa from a horse jockey.

Leesburg Youth Rally Saturday

Leesburg Youth for Christ will meet again this Saturday evening in the Presbyterian church at 7:45 o'clock with Rev. Howard Sartell, pastor of the Calvary Gospel Tabernacle, this city as speaker.

Holiday Events For Volant Lions

Wives of members of the Volant Lions club were guests of honor at a dinner which was held at the Rich Hill church. Approximately 60 attended this meeting at which H. W. Calvert of the economics department was the speaker.

For his address, Calvert chose the topic "A New South", in which he discussed the problems of industry and of racial prejudice which exist in our southern states today.

After the address, a movie was shown which dealt with ways of getting along with people, which may be shown again at a later meeting.

During the dinner, it was decreed that nothing but cigarettes should be smoked; as a result, Lion Heckathorne was fined for smoking a cigar during that period. In spite of being penalized, he was still in good spirits and played Santa Claus to the group later in the evening.

Friday evening the club sponsors a Christmas party for the children of the community at the Volant ball park at 6:45. There will be movies shown and Santa will pay a visit to the youngsters during the evening.

Wolves usually mate for life. On the North American continent there are two species of wolves—the red wolf and the gray, the gray being much heavier than the red.

Civil Rights Bill Foes Weakened

Filibuster Against Bill Is Forecast In Next Congress However

OTHER NEWS OF NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(Special To Central Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17. — A chink is apparent in the armor of southern Democratic senators, ready once more to filibuster against a civil rights bill in the new 81st Congress.

Their ranks have been weakened by the election of Rep. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee to the Senate. Kefauver, with Senator Claude Pepper, Florida, and Senator J. W. Fulbright, Arkansas, will refuse to join a filibuster.

No compromise is likely, in view of President Truman's statement that he will press for enactment of his entire program—including anti-lynch, anti-poll tax, anti-discrimination, and FEPC legislation.

The southern bloc now would almost be willing to go along on a compromise declaring a "no filibuster" truce on anti-lynch and anti-poll tax bills.

Senator Harry Boyd, a conservative Virginian, told this column that those are the "least objectionable" features of the civil rights plan.

However, the administration is determined to drive on through the weakened ranks of southern Democrats. Mr. Truman is reported particularly eager to defeat the leaders of the Dixiecrat revolt.

Best hope of the southerners is that some Senate Republicans, led by Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, will aid in blocking the civil rights bill. However, this is decidedly problematical.

Martin's Future

Despite rumors to the contrary, Speaker Joseph W. Martin (R), Massachusetts, is virtually certain to become minority leader when the new Democratic Congress convenes. It now seems evident that Martin will not be by-passed for a Republican of more liberal views.

Martin regards the minority leadership as a thankless job. But he has let it be known that he will not "run out" on his party. He will insist, however, that other GOP leaders take some of the work load off his shoulders.

The whole question will be threshed out at a conference of House Republican bigwigs immediately after the Christmas holidays.

Labor Paper?

One result of labor's increasing activity in the political field is revival of talks about establishment of a daily, nation-wide labor newspaper.

Union chiefs are beginning to weigh the project seriously. They view such a medium as an important adjunct to labor's campaign works.

The proposition got an airing among delegates to the AFL convention. Reception was favorable. John L. Lewis, boss of the powerful United Mine Workers, strongly supports the idea.

Backers of the plan want a newspaper competing on the newsstands for reader attention, covering all news, not just labor developments. Region editions would blanket the country.

Chief stumbling block is labor's present disunity. The AFL, CIO, and various independent unions would have to back such a journal.

Defense Headache

First big headache—and one that must be cured—for the new secretary of defense will be the perennial bitter battle between the navy and the air force.

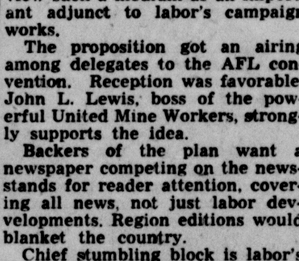

James Forrestal, who will retire, could not stop the bickering. He tried hard, but the roots were too deep, the "battle lines" too rigid.

Regardless of the controversy's merits, it appears that the navy may be squelched if the defense job goes to either Louis Johnson, former assistant secretary of war, or Ferdinand Elberstadt, Wall street efficiency expert.

Best information is that both men believe military unity can come only with absorption of naval aviation by the air force.

The air force claims the navy is trying to steal its prime function of heavy bombardment. The navy claims it needs bombers and carriers to carry out its mission of keeping sea lanes open and supporting amphibious operations.

Air Secretary Symington has participated so actively in the public name-calling that he probably will be replaced.

Thirty Nine Stockings Will Hang On Mantel Out At Henry Home

Excitement mingled with childish curiosity abounds on every hand at the Margaret L. Henry Children's home on the East Side where wide scale preparations are under way for one of the most bountiful and enjoyable Christmas seasons ever to be observed in the history of the home.

Come Chrstmas Eve exactly 39 of the longest stockings that the boys and girls can find will be placed neatly, row upon row over the wide fireplace hoping against hope that jolly Old St. Nick will deliver one of the largest sleigh loads of toys that he can find to the home. Of course the toys to be found in the stockings will be largely for the boys because they outnumber the girls two to one.

The 25 boys and the 14 girls are each pitching in to have their home spic and span by Christmas and the older ones will join in decorating each room in resplendency that will delight Santa beyond measure when he views the scene. Daily, now, large bundles and packages and many, letters and Christmas cards are being delivered with anxiety so great that none can hardly wait until the eventful hour.

Numerous organizations about the city are joining to make the Christmas season such a happy one with clothing, toys, candy, fruits, nuts and countless other items to be presented to the deserving youngsters. With the assistance of friends of the Henry Home, the Christmas dinner will be one that will satisfy the desires of a king.

A general distribution of the many presents will be made during the presentation of the annual Christmas program at the home on December 23 and directed by Mrs. Lida J. Green and Mrs. Bertha Patterson, matron and assistant. William Wray, for the twenty-ninth year, will obligingly fill the role of Santa Claus and distribute the various gifts.

One of the most outstanding Christmas presents that has reached the home was delivered this week, with the auto dealers of the city donating a deep freeze unit in which food can be stored for a long time, if necessary, and none go to waste.

All in all, the boys and girls, who make their home with Mrs. Green and her able assistants, will be about the happiest lot of boys and girls about the city when all the celebrating is done.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

Pre-Feeling Christmas Tree Ornaments

To the young fry, the glittering ornaments on Christmas trees are a great temptation. They seem to call for touching, rubbing and squeezing. And yet most of us grown-ups don't like to have the youngsters "messing" around the tree.

One way of meeting the problem is to arrange to give the children their fill of exploring these delightful things. Under supervision and before the tree is decorated, they can turn on and turn off the Christmas tree lights, rub fingers over the shiny smoothness of the decorative balls and play with the angels that go high on the tree. A chance to make some simple ornaments from pieces of tinsel and colored paper also will make them-feel that once the decorations are on the tree, they should not be pulled and hauled around.

If this sort of opportunity is overlooked and the ornaments are hung without children having had a chance to feel them, one can lift them so that they can enjoy the sensations that come from touching things that you're "not supposed to".

Satisfactions coming from these approaches to "pre-feeling" are good insurance against later damage to the decorations.

Harrisburg Faces Gas Rate Increase

HARRISBURG, Dec. 17.—(INS)—Nearly 41,000 customers of the Harrisburg Gas Company today were confronted with rate increases totaling approximately $191,000 a year.

The firm, in a tariff filed yesterday with the Public Utility Commission, proposed to increase its rates to customers in Dauphin, Cumberland, Lancaster and York counties effective February 15, 1949.

According to its new tariff, the company would reduce from 700 to 300 cubic feet the amount of gas provided for a minimum charge of $1 per month. The revision would result in increases to all customers using in excess of 300 cubic feet per month and would boost rates a maximum of 42 cents per month for suburban customers using more than 700 cubic feet of gas per month.

Hoffman Contends He Was Misquoted

TOKYO, Dec. 17.—(INS)—Paul G. Hoffman, economic cooperation administrator, said in Tokyo today that if a "pure Communist government takes over China, we'll pull out fast."

He told newsmen, after arriving in Tokyo for a brief stopover before returning to the United States, that he had been misquoted during his Shanghai visit earlier this week.

Hoffman added:

"If it's a coalition with all liberal forces represented, there's no reason why we should not cooperate.

"We're going to wait and see."

Speed Work On Jobless Checks For Christmas

HARRISBURG, Dec. 17.—(INS)—The state bureau of employment and unemployment compensation today promised Pennsylvania's jobless workers unemployment benefit checks will be delivered in time for Christmas.

Director A. J. Caruso announced employes are working overtime to make certain persons on jobless rolls get their checks before the holiday.

Cancel Party Plans

In certain instances, bureau employes have cancelled plans for their annual office Christmas "in order to concentrate on the job of speeding Christmas benefit checks," Caruso said.

A special working schedule has been arranged to avoid mail delays brought about by the Christmas post office jam and bureau workers will work several evenings this week and next, he explained.

"Thanks to the splendid cooperation of our employes we can promise claimants that every pay order signed in a local office on or before today will be processed and a check mailed before the middle of the following week," Caruso said. "This will guarantee delivery of the check before Christmas in practically all cases."

Gas Workers In St. Louis Strike

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 17.—(INS)—More than 200,000 St. Louis consumers, faced a complete breakdown in gas service today after a walkout of union employes at three Laclede Gas and Light Co. plants.

The workers left their jobs in an apparently unauthorizede strike over a wage dispute.

Company President Robert W. Otto said the company had received no word from the CIO-United Gas, Coke and Chemical Workers of America regarding the walkout.

The company said the union rejected a 10 cent hourly wage increase last Wednesday. The union seeks a 30 cent boost and other benefits. The present wage is $1.35 an hour.

Probing Crash Of 'Flying Box Car'

GREENVILLE, S. C., Dec. 17.—(INS)—Army air force authorities today were investigating the crash of a C-82 "flying boxcar" three miles south of Greenville air force base.

Four men were killed and one seriously injured in the crash yesterday. The plane was on a routine training flight.

The pilot attempted an emergency landing after one engine "conked out". The troop carrier slammed into a corn field, ripped through 350 feet of corn and plowed across busy U. S. highway 25.

Air base firemen quickly extinguished flames which burst from the engines. Two other men aboard the plane were thrown clear.

DISTRIBUTING COSTS

A survey shows that all the profits of distributing goods from producer to consumer amount to about three cents out of every consumer dollar.

GIRL SCOUTS

Notice—Carolers.

Girl Scouts, who plan on participating in the carol singing this year, are to meet for practice Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in the basement of the First Christian church.

Troop Three

Members of Troop 3 met Thursday evening in the basement of the First Christian church, at which time they enjoyed their Christmas party. A group of games was played by the girls with Ella Donnelly winning the prize of a memory contest.

A gift exchange was then held, following which a luncheon was served at a table, decorated in Yuletide colors, by the leader, Miss Laura Snider, assisted by Shirley and Joan Parkes, Nancy Saas and Elaine DeRekos.

It was announced that Connie DeCarbo had sold the most Christmas cards and that 52 favors had been completed to be distributed along with those made by other troops of the city to the hospitals and other institutions at Christmas.

The girls were reminded of the Intermediate Scout party to be held Wednesday, December 29, at the First Christian church, from 2 to 4 p.m. The meeting was dismissed with the singing of "taps."

There will be no assembly until Thursday, January 6, due to extra activities during the holiday season.

Says Atomic Energy Is On Sound Basis

DENVER, Dec. 17.—(INS)—Atomic Energy Commission Chairman David E. Lilienthal struck back today at what he hinted was an attempt to undermine public confidence in the nation's nuclear power program.

Lilienthal declared in a statement prepared for delivery at a Denver news conference:

"The potentialities of the atomic age have been sold short several times in recent weeks.

"Statements have been made and widely publicized, that there is only enough uranium ore to last a relatively brief period, and so the prospects of benefit from atomic power must go glimmering. "This is simply not so. It appears clear that atomic energy is on a sound basis for an indefinite period in the future".

Lilienthal vigorously challenged estimates that known reserves of uranium would last only 30 to 40 years.

CALLS FOR ECONOMY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—(INS)—A high-ranking Senate Finance committee Democrat called today for economy instead of new taxes and eyed the expected fifteen billion dollar defense budget as a possible place to cut.

Sen. Ed C. Johnson (D) Col., said he wants to see the armed services get only what the State department says is essential under world conditions.

It is estimated that modern-type man has been in existence for about 300,000 years.

Babson Suggest Use For Run Down Farms

By ROGER W. BABSON

(Copyright, 1948, Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

NEW BOSTON, N. H., Dec. 17.—This week's column is not written for farmers, as I know nothing about farming. Nor is it written for those who live in small self-sustaining cities or rural communities. Rather, I am writing for my business friends in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles, Cleveland, Baltimore St. Louis, Boston, Pittsburgh and Washington, D. C. Because when World War III does come, some one or more of these 11 cities will suffer a terrible loss of life.

Roger W. Babson

Readers who live in the famous "Magic Circle" are especially fortunate and have nothing to fear. You are in "the richest in time of peace and safest in time of war" of any part of the U. S. Probably every state has some similar safe, productive and attractive sections. Readers who live in such places should be very thankful. With the above introductcion I will sail ahead.

What I Have Done

For some time our statistical organization has been building a branch at New Boston, N. H., for use in case of World War III. We bought an old brick building which we could use for offices and several nearby homes in which we could house a limited number of executives. We believe that many more business concerns in one of these vulnerable cities should do the same thing. They owe it to their customers. Most employers have summer places to which they personally could flee, but such places do not provide an emergency plant or emergency offices.

We, however, have not been content to do only this. Hence, we have been picking up some old farm houses to which the families of our employees could move. These are from one to three miles from our emergency plant at New Boston, a distance which could easily be covered with a horse and wagon if no gasoline is available. Such farm houses are well-built with all modern conveniences and would cost $30,000 to build today.

What Old Farms Cost

"Old" Boston is a city of 800,000, and with its close suburbs contains about 2,550,000. The authorities told us that to be absolutely safe we must be about 60 miles away. Hence, for our emergency plant, we went north to New Boston, N. H., where there is a bountiful supply of food and fuel which makes it independent of railroad transportation.

In addition to the emergency offices and homes for executives, we are taking another step to protect, in such an emergency, our loyal employees of long service. As an illustration, we last week bought for only $6800 a farm of 183 acres with an old farmhouse of ten rooms, a good barn, electric lights and telephone. It consists of 73 acres of woodland, 70 acres of pasture and 40 acres of bottom tillage. The place borders a river; a small waterpower is nearby. It is not an investment any more than an insurance policy is an investment. Such a farm would give a family wholly dependent thereon only a meager existence. The same time and energy spent on a city job would pay four times as much as if expended on this farm—but for employees who work in a large city it is an excellent insurance policy.

Farms As Insurance

This is not a recommendation that educated young or old people try to get a living on such a farm. The experiment would probably end in disappointment. Such farms are useful as summer homes for employers and executives within commuting distance, or those who have saved or inherited a modest nestegg. This, however, is an appeal that medium-sized corporations provide not only for their owners and the business, but also for their key employees and families.

I believe that more more corporations should buy a few of such farms within 20 to 60 miles of their plant. These farms should be fairly close together; they should be expected to pay only enough to compensate for maintenance and taxes. They should be furnished so each house could—in an emergency—take care of four families (with one central kitchen). I repeat: There someday will be World War III; when it comes some of the above cities will be bombed. Old employees who have not the money to buy and maintain such places of refuge, should be protected in this way. Time to buy such farms is NOW.

Jerked meat is meat preserved by drying in the sun. Hot, dry weather is necessary to the process. In jerking beef, all fat is removed and the meat is split into thin flakes that are slit at regular intervals to facilitate drying. The steaks are spread out or hung up and the process takes from one to three days. If kept from moisture and insects, jerked meat will keep indefinitely.

Donati's comet was a comet discovered by Giovanni Donati at Florence, Italy, on June 2, 1858. Its period was estimated at more than 2,000 years, and it was seen until March, 1859.

Plan Inquiry Into Theft Of Bread

City policemen assigned to a bread theft investigation this morning detained two young South Side boys for stealing bread left at stores. After being taken to city police headquarters, Chief of Police Robert D. Hanna released the boys, pending their appearance Saturday morning for inquiry. It is likely the chief will inquire into the case, and determined if the boys stole because of the need of the family for bread.

Detention of the boys followed a complaint by a bread truck operator that some of the bread left at stores on the South Side had been stolen during the past several mornings.

Young Physician Under Arrest In Hotel Slaying

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 17.—(INS)—A 27-year-old St. Louis physician was arrested today in connection with the killing of Byron C. Hattman, 29, in a Cedar Rapids, Ia., hotel room.

The physician was identified as Dr. Robert C. Rutledge. He became ill while being taken to St. Louis police headquarters and was rushed to City Hospital.

Hospital attaches said Dr. Rutledge was suffering from poison. His condition is critical.

Dr. Rutledge was arrested at his home at 2 a. m. by St. Louis detectives and Cedar Rapids officers, including Prosecuting Attorney William W. Chrisman and Detective Thomas Condon.

Hattman was an employe of the Emerson Electric Company of St. Louis. His body was found early Tuesday.

Report British Soldier Wounded By Soviet Bullet

BERLIN, Dec. 17. — (INS) — A British army spokesman in Berlin said today that a British soldier reported shot and killed by Russians near the zonal border still is alive, but presumably in serious condition.

The soldier, Pvt. C. E. Knill, was shot when he and seven others were said to have strayed across the Anglo-American-Soviet frontier in the vicinity of the village of Duderdorf.

The spokesman said:

"Knill is in a serious condition but latest news from the hospital says he is still alive."

The border incident occurred Wednesday. The first communique said that Knill had died from back wounds inflicted by a Soviet tommygunner.

ALEXIS THOMPSON IS OPERATED UPON

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—(INS)—Alexis Thompson, owner of the Philadelphia Eagles football team, underwent an emergency appendectomy last night in Park East Hospital, New York.

Hospital scpokesmmen said the operation was performed by Dr. Olan D. Meeker, and that the wealthy sportsman's condition today is "good."

Idaho had no form of government for more than 50 years after the first white men, Lewis and Clark, set foot on the territory.

Old ideas about the origin of eels were that they came from horsehair in the water, or from beetles.

Gets Purse Back That She Lost On Local Bus

Christmas will soon be here, and there is good will among fellowmen these days . . .

At least that is what Mrs. Eva Levicy of Sankey street believes.

On Thursday morning Mrs. Levicy forgot her purse on a West Side bus while on her way to work. She wasn't aware of her loss until she had changed busses at the depot and was on her way to Walmo, where she is employed.

Upon reaching her destination she made several calls but no purse had been returned. Mrs. Levicy was confused—perhaps she had left it at home.

So she returned home, but her purse was gone. Losing a purse, especially around Christmas, is somewhat of a calmity. It was for Mrs. Levicy.

In the meantime Mr. Levicy who works on night turn had returned home at 9:30 a. m., via the west side bus. Upon hearing of his wife's plight he recalled seeing a purse dangling from the motorman's rack. His description of it revealed to his wife that it was her purse.

They retraced the bus' route and finally caught up with it in the Croton district. The motorman returned the purse to Mrs. Levicy and stated that the contents of the purse had spilled to the floor. A passenger had scooped everything together and had turned in the purse to the conductor.

Every article was still in the purse including a sum of money. In fact a stray comb, which did not belong to Mrs. Levicy and which probably was on the bus floor, had been added to the contents of her purse.

Committee in charge of the dinner were: Mrs. Lucy De Caprio, chairlady, Mrs. Lucille Gaydos, Mrs. Georgia Fornataro, Mrs. Ida Ross, Mrs. Mary De Carbo, Mrs. Marv Tuscano, and Mrs. Louise Valentino.

The next regular meeting will be January 12, at 7:30 o'clock, in the club rooms.

DOUBLE NAB

HILLSBORO, Tex.—Sheriff's officers had sought their man, wanted on worthless check passing charges, for two long years. Then a complaint was filed against the man's son for clothing theft. The complainant told officers where he thought the son was. Officers found the father there also and arrested them both.

Expect Truman To Ask Federal Education Aid

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—(INS)—President Truman is expected to ask the new Democratic congress next month to vote extensive federal grants in aid for education.

The full extent and cost of the administration program is not clear but authoritative sources indicate that it may eventually add up to a billion dollars a year.

An outline of the administration's thinking on the subject was given by Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman in an address before the southern governors' conference at Savannah, Ga.

Steelman endorsed the president's old 300 million dollar a year program, which failed of enactment in the Republican-controlled 80th congress, and added some others. Topping the new ones was federal aid for college scholarships "to worthy young people".

The White House adviser did not rule out aid for construction of school buildings. But he made no commitment on this ponit. He said a "careful study" first should be made of needs and facilities.

The president's education aid program is expected to appeal to southern elements opposed to the rebellious Democrats who broke away from the Truman-Barkley ticket in the November election.

MANY CRANBERRY DISHES ARE SUGGESTED

While fresh cranberries are plentiful, use them in many ways from cranberry juice cocktail to salad and dessert. Cranberries are a traditional accompaniment with holiday turkey or chicken. Cooks of yesterday knew no other use for them. Now there are dozens of flavorful recipes for using these colorful berries.

Make raw cranberry relish by grinding a whole orange, a cored apple and a cup of cranberries together and combining with a half cup of sugar. This relish is good moolded in a package of lemon-flavored gelatin. Use only 1½ cups of water to dissolve the gelatin. Celery and nuts are good additins to this salad.

Cooked cranberry sauce or jelly is good combined in a variety of dishes. Filled cookies take on new interest when cranberry jelly is used for the filling. Cranberry pie is a dish for royalty. Use a cup of raisins to three cups cranberries and add two teaspoons grated lemon rind for a good flavor combination. Cook these with two tablespoons flour, two cups sugar, a fourth teaspoon salt and two-thirds cup water until cranberries pop. Add two tablespoons of butter and cool before adding to a baked pie shell.

For an interesting Christmas bread, use a favorite sweet yeast dough. Roll it in a rectangle, spread half with cranberry jelly, fold over and pinch together edges. Let rise and bake. Frost and decorate the top if you like.

The cranberry dessert is delicious and easy to make. It may become a favorite in many families as long as fresh cranberries are in season:

Cranberry Betty (6 servings)
2 cups cranberries
1 cup sugar
1 cup water
5 slices soft bread
2 tablespoons butter
½ cup raisins.

Cook cranberries, sugar and water 10 minutes. Butter a casserole. Break up two slices of bread in small cubes and put in a layer in the bottom, then layer of raisins, half of the stewed cranberries. Then dot with butter. Repeat. Top with the last slice of bread broken into finer crumbs. Dot with butter. Bake in a moderate oven 375 degrees Fahrenheit, about ½ hour or until brown. Good hot or cold with than cream or whipped cream.

Royall Orders Release Of 450 U. S. Prisoners

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—(INS)—Army Secretary Royall today paroled 450 Army and Air Force prisoners and ordered military authorities to release them before the Christmas holidays.

Royall said that prison authorities should "make every effort" to allow the men to spend Christmas with their families.

The Army secretary said that the action will bring to 8,500 the number of military prisoners released from disciplinary barracks and federal institutions during 1948.

The clemency was ordered only for prisoners whose conduct in confinement has been good and whose sentences would have expired before March 1.

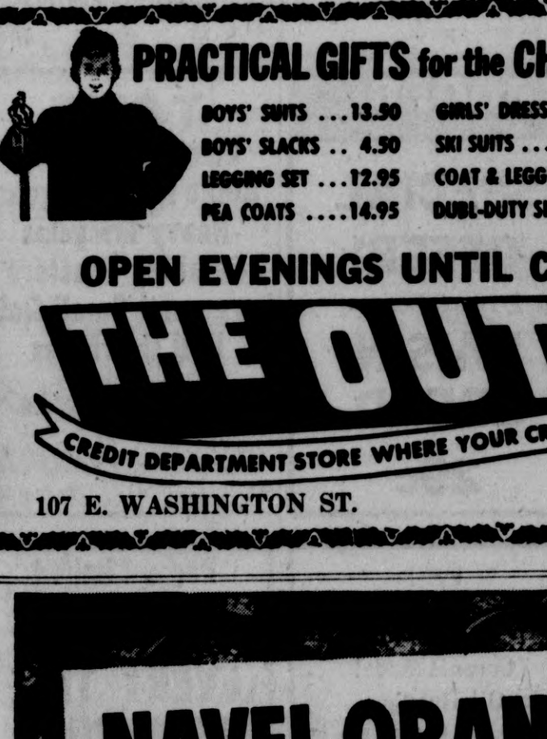

Royall said that prisoners who have been convicted of murder, rape, robbery and aggravated assaults will not receive "home paroles".

Croton Pupils Have Christmas Pageants

School Gaily Decorated For Annual Festivities; Pageants Show Much Work

A hard working group of boys and girls who have been coached in practice sessions for the past few weeks by their teachers in the Croton school presented two very fine pageants at the school this afternoon. Miss Mildred Sargeant, dramatics teacher directed the playlets with boys and girls from all the various grades having some part.

The first playlet was entitled "The Arrival of Santa" and was participated in by pupils from the third and fourth grades while "The Nativity" the second of the productions presented in five scenes by enacted by fifth and sixth graders. The plays were made more realistic with the use of the backgrounds depicting Biblical scenes and made by Mrs. Morfydd Brown and her sixth grade art classes.

Music for the program was under the supervision of Mrs. Virginia Houk and Miss Ruth Drescher. Jack Micco portrayed Santa in the fourth grade play. Lewis Hamelly assisted in all the work of preparing for the program. Raymond Coleman, Larry Tavoleri, James ReMucceo, Wayne Cox and James McQuiston did solo parts and instrumental numbers.

The first two grades under the direction of Mrs. Anna Pyle and Mrs. Houk did exceptionally well in songs and playlets. The entire school was gayly dressed for the occasion. A large trimmed Christmas tree enlivens the school corridor. Boys and girls in the art classes are engaged presently in making various gifts for their parents.

Introducing the playlet, "Gifts Without Money," given by Highland L.T.L. Monday at Highland U.P. church, was the soft music of "Holy Night". Mary Morrow, standing at the table, on which a white candle threw a gleam of light on the open Bible, asked for silence while Cyndia Lou Zeigler prayed a child's prayer.

Children, representing five "Gifts Without Money", were: "Love", Phyllis Sontag; "Kindness", Caroline Hurst; "Friendship", Katherine Weber; "Peace", Susann Sampson, and "Service", Peggy Marburger. Each told of her contribution to better living. The playlet closed with the singing of "O, Come, All Ye Faithful".

Opening the meeting with a worship service, "The First Christmas" Bible readings from the second chapter of Luke of Mary Morrow were interspersed by the singing of several carols. Miss Gail Brown presided at the piano. A temperance object lesson was given by Mrs. F. J. Fox.

Members brought bag wash cloths which will be sent to La Mission Populaire, Paris 9.

After Caroline Hurst dismissed the group with prayer, the children were given a Christmas treat. Mrs. Robert Weber and Mrs. Dale Marburger assisted as hostesses.

Postmaster Asks Local Residents To Separate Mail

Act Will Greatly Expedite Dispatch Of Mails At Local Post Office

With mail matter now nearing its Christmas peak Postmaster William R. Hanna today called upon local residents to separate their Christmas cards, putting the out-of-town mail in one bundle and the local mail in another.

This action will save considerable time, which is most precious at the post office at this period. Most mailers have been doing this, it is found, but there are still huge bundles of cards which come to the office all mixed up, and it is necessary for the receiving clerk to go through the pile and separate them, causing a big loss of time.

Christmas Tree 'Cold War' Waged On Prices Charged

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 17.—(INS)—A "cold war" between Christmas tree dealers and potential buyers grew colder today in Pittsburgh.

Salesmen reported 73,000 firs, pines and spruces in cars in the railroad yards, and a dearth of customers in the area.

The trees are selling generally at $3 each—a 50-cent cut from the initial price this year, and about a dollar less than last Christmas.

But the customer—who allegedly is always right—is holding his money, probably because he feels another price cut is imminent.

He may be right, at that. There are only seven shopping days left, and the rental on each carload of trese is $5.50 a day.

BOYS "STEAL" CAR

Trio of boys, as yet unknown, took the car of Mary Martin, 740 County Line street, from its parking place at the Second U. P. church last night and shoved it to the Wilbur Spigler garage at 308 Milton street. Mr. Spigler reported the boys ran away. He reported the episode to city police.

Condition Of Auto Victim Unchanged

No change was noted today in the condition of Miss Anne F. Black, of R. D. 1, Volant, who was badly injured early Thursday morning, when the auto she was driving struck a truck at the North Jefferson and Wallace avenue intersection. Her condition was reported as very grave today.

James McClenehan, the other occupant of the machine, although seriously injured is somewhat improved, it was stated at the Jameson Memorial hospital, where the two are undergoing treatment.

Delinquents Not To Escape Payment

Although persons who owe the city probably $30,000 or more, in delinquent personal taxes, believe they will escape payment, such is not true, according to Solicitor Robert M. White, city solicitor.

He said today that the amounts will be turned over to the new tax receiver for collection.

Some time ago city officials warned that arrests would be made unless the delinquents paid up. However, no arrests have been made.

MAN STABBED; WOMAN HELD

Vivian Lewis, said to be from Cleveland, was being held by Sheriff Frank Coen in the county jail today to await the outcome of a knife wound sustained by William Combs, Union township. He is in the New Castle hospital. His condition is reported as fair. Both are colored.

According to Sheriff Coen, the woman admitted knifing the man during an argument which followed a "drinking bout".

Comb and she are alleged to have occupied a place near West Washington street extension.

He is an employe of the Sharon Steel & Hoop company.

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 17. — Did you ever witness a living legend?

Then you should watch Cecil B. DeMille in action.

He was in his glory yesterday. He was filming the kind of movie scene that has made his name famous throughout the world.

DeMille was bringing to life a great story from the Bible. It was a fantastic mob scene, a screen spectacle that made even blase Hollywood give a double-take.

Real Spectacle

Whenever the aging master places one of his climactic scenes before the cameras, it is an automatic signal for old-time movie makers to flock to the set as spectators.

They did that yesterday. Hundreds of the biggest names in show business crowded two sound stages at Paramount to watch one of the biggest scenes in Hollywood history.

DeMille was re-enacting the destruction of the temple at Gaza, a gigantic structure of 90-foot columns and massive lintels that spread across two huge sound stages. A thousand movie extras milled around the set.

This was DeMille at his best. DeMille the epic maker. The man who divided the Red Sea. Who stormed the walls of Acre and dispersed the enemy with tremendous caldrons of boiling oil. The man who erected a Roman city on a California desert, the largest prop in picture annals.

Mature As Samson

A DeMille-inspired Samson, blinded and tormented by his enemies, groped pitifully toward two tall columns to fulfill the destiny set forth in the book of Judges.

Victor Mature was the figure of Samson, a battered and bearded tattered man.

The Philistine crowds taunted and mocked him. Samson was forced by strong-armed soldiers, to kneel before the statue of the God Dagon which towered 60 feet into the air.

The teeming galleries took up the chant: "He bows to Dagon!"

And high on a camera boom sat DeMille. His gaze fierce and intent. His lips moving silently as he repeated lines with the actors. His arms moving as though he, too, were in the scene below him.

The throngs screamed:

"He gave up his god for a peacock!"

Hedy As Delilah

This shouting provoked roars of laughter and attention was focused on Delilah, who was Hedy LaMarr, magnificently gowned in a flowing dress and cape of real peacock plumage.

Samson reached the two pillars. He prayed aloud: "Strengthen me, O God, strengthen me only this once."

And then horror swept the faces of the Philistines. And in panic the crowd ran belowing toward the doors.

The great idol crashed deafeningly down, showering live coals and toppling columns like some live giant run amok.

Resident's Son Dies In Pittsburgh

Russell Vaughn, of Pittsburgh, a former resident of this city, and son of the late Thomas Vaughn, and Mrs. Mary (Kit) Vaughn, of East street, died in his home, Thursday evening at 9:30 o'clock, after a long illness. He was 42 years of age.

Mr. Vaughn resided in Pittsburgh for approximately ten years, and prior to that had been a local resident.

Smuggling Is Extensive In Germany Now

By WILLIAM KERWIN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—The army said today that black market operators will smuggle approximately 60 million dollars worth of goods out of western Germany this year.

The Economic Administration immediately disputed the figure and siad it was "excessively high". ECA estimated that smuggling activities in western Germany will total about ten million dollars.

ECA added, however, that it could not be sure of the amount and the army said it "wished the figure was as low as the ECA estimates".

Army spokesmen said their figure represented about 10 per cent of the estimated 650 million dollars which Germany will earn this year through its export trade. ECA officials said if the amount is correct it would have a "serious" affect on the progress of recovery in the three German sectors.

Smuggling Extensive

It was emphasized, however, that smuggling will not result in the ECA spending additional funds to make up the losses incurred when the materials are secreted out of the military zones.

The army and ECA said that black market operators and German civilians are smuggling such consumer goods as cameras, glasses, binoculars and other materials which can be carried unnoticed across the borders.

These materials do not of themselves contribute directly to recovery but officials explained that, sold on international markets, they earn the foreign money necessary for trade.

Chairman McCracken said that plans are now underway for putting into operation the new blood bank program by the first of the year, and the committee, in cooperation with L. J. Lewis, public information chairman will report how the blood and the many blood products derived from this new plan will eventually benefit everybody in the area.

Patent Granted To Daniel Murphy

Seal For Centrifugal Pumps Patent Given To New Castle Man

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17. — United States Patent Office granted patent number 2,453,249 on a "Seal for Centrifugal Pumps" to Daniel Murphy, New Castle, Pa., on November 9, 1948.

As is generally known, a centrifugal pump comprises an impeller, or rotating element with vanes thereon, that draws liquid in at its center and expels it at high velocity at it periphery. This impeller is carried by a shaft mounted in two properly spaced bearings and coupled to a source of power such as a suitable motor. It is essential that provision be made to prevent lubricant from being sucked away from the bearings when the pump is in operation, and to stop any of the liquid from seeping into the bearings when the pump is at rest. These arrangements are particularly necessary when the liquid carries abrasive particles as, for example, the "slip" of the pottery industry.

It is therefore the purpose of Mr. Murphy's invention to achieve these ends, and, as the chief feature of his construction, he makes use of a special collar, located between one of the bearings and the impeller, that is both rotatable and slidable on the shaft. Forming part of this collar is a tubular member made of flexible and elastic material, such as neoprene, which is resistant to deterioration both under the effects of the liquid being pumped and the lubricant used in the bearing structure. It is this elastic body that functions to maintain the desired sealed engagement of the fundamental rotating parts of the pump, regardless of whether the latter is in use or idle.

According to Mr. Murphy, his assembly provides a seal that is liquid-tight and effective, even though there be such mechanical misalignment that the collar wobbles in its rotation. In addition, special nuts are used to compensate for the gradual wearing away of the impeller and its associated plate, both of which may readily be removed and replaced.

Incidentally, it shuodl be noted that this invention represents an improvement on two prior patents issued to Mr. Murphy—one on August 30, 1938 and the other on August 8, 1944.

Plan Is Increase Gas Tax Given Some Support

HARRISBURG, Dec. 17.—(INS)—Proposals of the state to hike gasoline taxes today had the tentative support of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, spokesman for 310,000 state motorists.

In a statement "recognizing the need for increased revenues," President Andrew J. Sordoni, of Wilkes-Barre, declared that "if the present highway program is to be continued additional funds will be necessary."

The announcement, made following a meeting of the federation's 59 AAA automobile club officials in Harrisburg, contained no reference to the amount of increase. However, it was considered tentative approval of Gov. James H. Duff's proposal to hike gasoline taxes two cents per gallon next year to finance the commonwealth's 100,000,000 a year highway improvement program.

In General Agreement

Sordoni said PFM officials were in "general agreement" that there is recognition of increased costs of modern hghways because of added safety features n wider roads, easier curves and better grades, as well as increases in the cost of labor, materials and equipment."

"Modernization of the growing total of obsolete and inadequate roads is a known necessity," he said.

Explaining that a federation survey uncovered demands from all quarters that the state provide adequate transportation facilities Sordoni said.

It is obvious that the highways department "should not decrease its preseht plan of operation."

Additional Revenues

"On the contrary, it seems evident that additional revenues may be justified so that the schedule can be continued and the demands of motorists for highways and safety can be met," he declared.

Sordoni qualified the federation's approval of increased taxes. None should be considered, he said, unless they meet the following conditions:

1. A predetermined need which include a reasonable plan of construction over a period of years.
2. The ability of the highways department to spend these additional funds efficiently and effectively.
3. A complete review...Looking toward a formula that will provide an equitable distribution of motorist taxes to the various political sub-divisions.
4. A reexamination of other appropriations of the motor license funds to determine that they are being used for the purpose for which they were appropriated.
5. That any increase in motorist taxes be made temporary.
6. That steps be taken to free toll bridges in Pennsylvania.
7. That additional funds acquired be used as far as possible for new construction.

Mt. Jackson School To Present Operetta

Mount Jackson grade and high school students are in the final week of preparation for the Christmas program to be presented in the High School Auditorium, December 22, at 8 p. m.

The grade school is presenting a Christmas operetta, entitled "Christmas at the Circus,' by Catherine Allison Christie. The plot centers around an expected visit of Santa Claus to the circus. Tony, Toto, and the ring master all feel very sad, because Santa failed to respond to a wire they sent him, asking if he would visit them in their circus home this Christmas; they decide to have a dress rehearsal in case he should unexpectedly arrive, and surprise him with a performance. While the three are out calling in the performers, Santa slips in and hides, and unknown to them, enjoys the rehearsal. At the end of the performance, Santa surprises them by making himself known—treats them to candy, leaves a huge pack full of gifts, and they say goodbye each feeling they have had a great party.

The cast includes: Santa Claus—Joe Graist: Ring Master, Jack Ferguson; Tony, the Barber, Richard Howard; Toto, the head Clown, Delmore French; clowns, pop corn balls, assorted candies, yo yos, mokies, ponies, wild animals, cinnamon bears and trapeze girls.

There will also be two new bands organized for the first time at Mt. Jackson, a rhythm band of first graders, and a junior band of 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th grade students. Both of these bands along with the senior band will appear in uniform.

The high school part of the program will be featured with a candlelight choir of 90 voices, with several carols by the group, and special girls trio, boys quartette numbers and solos.

The program is under the direction of Mrs. Anita E. Scott, music supervisor of the school.

Soft Drink Tax To Be Opposed

Foresee Battle On Tax At Next Session Of State Legislature

OTHER NEWS OF STATE AFFAIRS

HARRISBURG, Dec. 17.—(INS)—A Harrisburg advertising firm representing bottlers attacking the constitutionality of the penny-a-bottle soft drink tax are dropping broad hints that stiff opposition to re-enactment of the tax can be expected during the 1949 session of the General Assembly . . . In fact, a company lobbyist is saying that Senate President Pro Tempore M. Harvey Taylor and Majority Leader John M. Walker are opposed privately to re-enactment. . . . The tax was adopted in 1947 and it was hoped by Gov. James H. Duff's budget officials that about $35,000,000 could be collected during the biennium ending next May 31. . . . Since then the estimate has been revised downward to $27,000,000. . . . Governor Duff is expected to ask for re-enactment of the emergency levy in his budget message to the legislature. . . . The tax currently is being tested for constitutionality in the Dauphin county court.

Mario Bove, Pittsburgh realtor, is not a man to loose an opportunity to wage his fight against taxes but at times things become confused. . . . Appearing before the Public Utility Commission in opposition to the $24,642,500 a year rate boost requested by the Pennsylvania Bell Telephone Company, Bove passed out sets of pencils and literature. . . . Examination disclosed that one pencil bore the inscription: "Taxation is robbery, says "no tax' Bove." . . . The companion pencil bore the inscription: "The answer—increase wages, reduce prices—'no tax' Bove." Asked how he would finance government, Bove produced a printed form letter explaining that the "formula" called for reduction or elimination of taxes on wages and goods and allowing the government to collect its own earnings via "land rent." . . . He explained that "land rent" is known "in vulgar idiom" as wages and interest due government employes and their tools.

Cong. John Kunkel, Harrisburg Republican, says he sees danger in the tax policies of the next session of the Congress. . . . "The Democrats have a large majority in Congress," he says. "They also have so many commitments to so many groups that there will be an inevitable tendency to over-extend our government and to over-tax the resources of the nation." . . . Kunkel said the "chief problem" of the Republican minority during the 81st Congress will be to try to restrain such a tendency . . . "If the resources of the nation are over-taxed, the result will be disaster for everyone," he adds. "Ever since the time of Lenin, Russian policy has been based on the theory that the United States would overtax itself sooner or later and suffer a reaction. When that occurs, the Russians think they will be able to take over control throughout the world."

Charles M. Morrison believes he may be the only secretary of the Commonwealth to have presided at two successive sessions of the electoral college in the state's long history. . . . The list of former secretaries compared with years the college met appears to bear him out. Morrison presided in 1944, as a member of the Martin cabinet, and again last week as a member of the Duff cabinet.

Duff Sees Approval Of Gas Tax Boost

(By International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 17—Gov. James H. Duff maintained today that the motorist would save money "if he paid two cents more for gas".

The governor declared that an increased gasoline tax would provide more express highways, enabling motorists to travel through congested areas "in far less time and thus consume far less gas".

In a speech before the Citizens' Council on City Planning, Duff predicted that the next legislature would approve his proposed two cents a gallon tax boost on gasoline.

Wheeling Facing Large Expense For Streams Cleanup

(By International News Service)

WHEELING, W. Va., Dec. 17.—Wheeling residents figured today it's going to cost about $80 each to clean up the streams around Wheeling. This figuring was based on the city's population of 65,000.

Kenneth Hill, a Chicago engineer whose firm has studied the sewerage problem for nearly a year, estimated the community would have to pay $5,203,000 for interceptor sewers, a disposal plant, pumping stations and a few other incidentals.

His estimate was another step in the drive which gained impetus last summer when governors from eight states signed an anti-pollution pact.

Drive Slow—Children Move Fast

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A gullible soul on the Wall Journal would have us believe that the beautiful daughter of doughty sea-captain Cephus Murphy spent so much of her life with her daddy on the bounding main, that she was completely innocent in the ways of Romeos on shore. One night, he says, she went motoring with one of them while the Murphy ship was in dry-dock in Portland, and didn't get home until four in the morning.

Her explanation, given to her father with a perfectly straight face, was, "Dad, we were becalmed. The wind died in one of our tires, and John convinced me we had to wait for it to spring up again."

Whether or not Captain Murphy fell for this tale, the Journal man could not, or would not say.

Mezz Mezzrow, the blues specialist, claims there is one musician in his quartette who's gotton so swell-heated his hat is now too big for his trumpet.

GREECE NEEDS $400,000,000

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—(INS)—Henry F. Grady, U. S. ambassador to Greece, said today that a 400 million dollar American aid program for Greece will be required during the next fiscal year.

Grady, who called on President Truman at the White House, made it clear that the Chief Executive wants the Greek aid program continued despite the stalemate in the battle against guerrilla forces.

The ambassador reiterated that he was "not too optimistic but moderately optimistic" about the campaign to rid Greece of Communist guerrillas and maintain the independence of the country.

Prevent Yuletide Accidents At Home, Red Cross Warns

Common Sense Safety Rules Will Eliminate Many Christmas Accidents In Homes

Plain old-fashioned common sense is the prime factor to be considered in Christmas safety as outlined by Mrs. Theodore Castele, accident prevention chairman of the Lawrence county chapter, American Red Cross. Mrs. Castele pointed out a few simple rules to be followed in connection with Christmas trees and toys so that a serious accident or death does not take the joyous yule-tide holiday from some family that may be your own.

Tree Hazard

At the end of a week indoors, Christmas trees are dried out and highly inflammable. To lessen the danger of fire, keep your tree standing in water the entire time it is up. Don't place the tree near stoves, radiators, or other sources of heat. Don't smoke near the tree. Don't decorate the tree with lighted candles.

If electric lights are used on the tree. Don't decorate the tree with lighted candles.

If electric lights are used on the tree, be sure they are in good condition. Sets bearing the label of the Underwriters Laboratories, Inc. have been tested and pronounced safe. Don't overload the circuit with too many lights from one set of outlets. When buying decorations, insist that they be flameproof.

Watch your step when decorating the tree. Use a stable step-ladder. If you must use a chair, be sure it is solid and don't pile books or other objects on it to increase the height.

Christmas Toys

Toys for infants should be of one piece, with no removable parts and no rough edges. They should be colored with paints not having a lead base, which is poisonous. The toys should be easy to clean and large enough so that the child cannot swallow them.

Children in the two-year-age group like toys with motion, but again such toys should have no removable parts such as winding keys, balls or sticks. Toys should be light enough that the child can move them easily and should be made of non-inflammable material.

Five-year-olds are great imitators. They want toys similar to articles used by mother and dad. This offers parents an opportunity to teach their children safe handling of household tools and appliances. This age group is also interested in vehicles which can be ridden. In this connection, parents are warned against buying vehicles too large for the child so he can "grow to fit" them. Such vehicles become dangerous when they are too large for a child to handle properly.

In considering toys for the 10-year-olds buying is only half the job. Children of the age must be taught safe use of the complex playthings such as electric trains, chemistry sets, and bicycles.

The foregoing safety tips are mostly common sense. However, the alarming home accident rate throughout the country, especially at Christmas time, points out the need for constantly reminding American families of the dangers in their own home.

NO HOUDINI

GLENS FALLS, N. Y.—(INS)—Sir Felix Korom was scheduled to display his magical talents at a Glens Falls junior high school. He went to the school early to set up some props. When he finished, he prepared to leave. But he couldn't. He was locked in and couldn't get out.

STEAMING

A well-greased coffee can may be used for steaming puddings or breads. Fill two-thirds full and grease the tightly fitting cover before putting it on.

The Jerusalem Chamber is a room adjacent to Westminster Abbey in London, England. It was built in 1376-86, and was so named because of the tapestries that once hung there and represented scenes from the history of Jerusalem. Henry IV died in this room, and frescoes depict his death and the coronation of Queen Victoria.

Westminster Toys With Sterling 56-40

Westminster made it 52 wins in a row, on their home court, last night by easily beating their Kansas visitors, Sterling college, 56 to 40.

Coach Washabaugh started his second team but soon found it necessary to send in the third and fourth stringers in order to keep the score down.

Jack Jones, John Abraham and Ed Halas, the latter two freshmen, led the Titans in scoring with 28 points between them. Cleo Mucci, the Indian captain of the Sterling Warriors, notched 11 points despite a tightly bandaged left hand due to bone fractures in that hand.

The Titans will have to use their varsity at least a little while tonight when they invade Pittsburgh to play Carnegie Tech in the first away tilt of the season.

SADDLER FAVORED TO DEFEAT YOUNG

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—(INS)—Sandy Saddler, newly-crowned featherweight champion of the world, is a prohibitive favorite to defeat Terry Young, New York lightweight, in their 10-round, non-title bout at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Saddler, who won the title by upsetting Willie Pep last Oct. 29, has knocked out 66 of his 97 foes. His bout tonight will be a tuneup for his tentative return title bout with Pep in he Garden on Feb. 11.

Young is rough and durable but has been off form in recent outings.

Joe Louis Wins From Comiskey

PATTERSON, N. J., Dec. 17.—(INS)—Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis settled back to await the emergency of a "suitable" challenger for a June title bout today after completing his exhibition tour.

The Brown Bomber wound up his cross-country exhibition stint last night against Pat Comiskey, veteran Paterson heavyweight.

Hard On Eyes

Louis held the upper hand throughout the six round bout before 5,127 fans at Paterson armory, but the champion sported discolorations below both eyes at the finish.

The heavyweight king admitted Comiskey is a "good puncher". He predicted Comiskey would give Ezzard Charles a tougher fight than Joe Baksi.

The Paterson heavyweight is scheduled to meet Charles in an elimination bout at Cleveland, Jan. 13.

WILLIAMS-BRATTON FIGHT JANUARY 17

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 17. —(INS)—Lightweight Champion Ike Williams will meet Chicago's Jimmy Bratton in a ten-round nontitle bout January 17 at the Philadelphia Arena.

Williams defeated Bratton in their first meeting in ten rounds at New Orleans nearly three years ago, when Bratton was only 18.

Greenlight For PIAA Building

HARRISBURG, Dec. 17.—(INS)—The Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association today had the greenlight from member schools to purchase a new $35,000 headquarters in Harrisburg.

Returns of a referendum for recodification of the P.I.A.A. constitution, which allowed the purchase, showed overwhelming approval according to Edmund Wicht, executive secretary.

Wicht said only one district, District 6 covering the Altoona area, registered dissenting votes. Twenty-nine of the district's 37 voting schools voted against the amendment.

Legal Angles Cleared

The district questioned the legal right of the PIAA to acquire real estate. Wicht said the legal angle was cleared with association lawyers before any steps were taken.

All points of rewritten constiution were accepted with the exception of a close vote on a rule which regulates varsity players' eligibility to play in junior varsity games. Returns from the junior high schools of District Seven were not complete and the final tally may affect rejection of that rule, Wicht said.

Sportsmen To Meet Tonight

Members of the Sportsman's Council of Lawrence county will be guests tonight of the Enon Valley Rod & Gun club. Proposed legislation will be discussed. Delegates from clubs affiliated with the council are urged to have a representative present.

The Giants recently announced they had signed Frank Frisch and Fitzsimmons as coaches for next year.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

ELMER BROWN, president, Northwest division, Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's clubs, will be the guest of honor at the Lawrence County Council of sportsmen's banquet, here, January 15 . . . The council is interested in knowing the names of the most elderly sportsmen in the county. Answers may be sent to Here & There, or Del Porter, Piper Station, Jefferson and Falls Street . . . Jimmie Dunn, Cleveland light tutor, will depart for the Pacific coast, following the holidays. He may be there several months . .. Mark Butler, the ex-railroader, recalled several days ago the battle in which George Heckert, now gone, proved too fast and clever for Martin Lee . . . The Gibsons, the late Griff and present councilman, Jim, were athletic-minded. Griff managed a ball team on which Watt Gould, now retired at West Middlesex, pitched. Jim was a preliminary boxer . . . Russ Baxter, middleweight, is employed at the United Engineering, where the two Jims, Meagan and Dailey, also toil. Tippy Richards, former Ne-Ca-Hi and Geneva grid star, also works there . . . Johnny Jennings, as tough and game a lightweight as ever boxed here, works at the Pennsylvania Engineering company. Harry Hagen, ex-boxer, who was taught by George Gunther, decades ago, is also an employe of that concern . . . Harry Evans, the well known singer, and boxing disciple, yet believes amateur boxers should fight only two minute rounds. Another boxing fan is George Anthony, also a vocalist . . . Frank Druschel, former doorman at the Moose, is living the life of retirement.

Twice runners-up, and now winners of the All-America Football conference Buffalo Bills will play the Browns in Cleveland for the loop title, Sunday . . . Chicken fighting apparently is a thing of the past hereabouts. Time was when it wasn't difficult to watch a handler training his cocks for a main. One never hears of a pit bull fight. One rarely sees a pit terrier around nowadays . . . Fiz Rodenbaugh is one of the "youngest, old baseball men" hereabouts . . . Larry Hart, Penn Power engineer, is happy. His son, Bob, played halfback and captained St. Mary's Mighty Mites, which won the Catholic Grade school flag here . . . Griff Phillips, former tin worker, now retired could handle himself in his younger days. He and Scotty Gregig, who has a tread as silent as a cat, were two of Deshon annex watchmen during war days . . . Herbie Jones, relative of Harry, local sealer of weights, won a fight with a knockout in Washington, D. C. several nights ago . . . Baseball league officials are marking time until after the holidays before arranging 1949 plans . . . Heavy Orr, who played football at W. & J., wears a satisfied countenance these days because he's able to procure black cigars, which were few several years ago . . . Dan Carroll, personal director, Universal Sanitary pottery, isn't only interested in affairs there, but also in all affairs affecting youth. He's an ex-director of city recreation.

The Kroesens of New Castle Borough are athletic-minded. Their dad, Scrappy, was a good infielder for the Terrace and later, umpired in the County circuit. His son, Ralph is a good player, and another son, is a Shenango high grid star . . . Bowling will be televised over the entire eastern network of the American Broadcasting company, starting December 26. Weekly shows will feature matches involving the top bowling stars of the area. It's a pleasure to watch Andy Varipap, one of the top bowlers and best trick "shots". By the way, he became the first to repeat as a winner in the All-Star roundey. He won the National individual crown for the second successive year . . . Freddy Fitzsimmons, baseball coaches, operates about 50 alleys in the New York district. This is said to be one reason he signed with the Giants, which resulted in Leo Durocher being called upon the carpet by Baseball Czar Happy Chandler . . . Judging from the ease with which Joe Louis is outpointing opponents in exhibition, he yet would have no difficulty with opponents. It will be a long time until another Joe Louis comes along. Among those from here who has watched him win is Frank Cochran, city employe. Peter Wright, local resident, is Joe's uncle.

ALL-AMERICA GRID FUTURE IS DISCUSSED

Future Of AAC In Doubt Unless Changes Are Made, Meet In Cleveland

By CHARLES EINSTEIN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

CLEVELAND, Dec. 17.—The most explosive confab in the brief history of the All-America Conference begins in Cleveland today when league magnates decide what to do with their future.

Start of the important executive session will precede by two days the AAC's third championship game, in which the ubiquitous Cleveland Browns battle the Buffalo Bills, whom they defeated twice during loop play earlier this season. This contest will occur Sunday afternoon in municipal stadium on the banks of Lake Erie.

Faces Grave Future

The game is for the league title, and certainly there will be a championship to be won. By game time, however, there is just the smallest possibility that there won't be any conference.

Heavily outgunned by its entrenched rival, the National Football league, the All-America, if it wishes to continue, must:

1. Scare up some fresh money.
2. Relocate a probable minimum of two of its franchises.
3. Pacify insurrectionists in its own midst.

That is a large sized order.

Only two AAC clubs, San Francisco and Cleveland, may be called sound with any measure of accuracy.

SATURDAY'S JUNIOR CHURCH SCHEDULE

Seven games are on tap Saturday in the junior church league at the "Y".

The schedule is as follows: 3, Trinity vs First Methodist; 3:45, First Christian vs First Presbyterian; 4:30, St. Paul vs S. S. Alliance; 5:15, First U. P. vs Croton; 6, First Baptist vs Third U. P.; 6:45, Epworth vs St. George; 7:30, A. Z. A. vs Second U. P.

Exhibitions Bring Louis Plenty Of "Dough"

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—Joe Louis could become a millionaire boxing only exhibitions.

According to figures disclosed today by Harry Mendel, who has handled the heavyweight champion's tour, the gross has amounted to more than 300,000 and Louis' end of the swag is about $100,000.

He still has one more date before he quits to spend the holidays in Chicago and attend the New Year's Day Rose Bowl game at Pasadena.

He will appear at Lewiston, Me., Dec. 20 to fulfill a date which he was forced to cancel on Nov. 5 because of a severe cold. Incidentally, that exhibition was the only cancellation for Louis in his 13 years of ring warfare.

Will Resume Tour

Louis' attracted his biggest gate at Cleveland, where $47,000 went into the coffers, and the biggest crowd turned out at Detroit—12,000.

After resting through the holidays the champion will resume his no-decision tour at Omaha, Neb., Jan. 10, and will follow with a bout at Topeka, Kan., Jan. 11 and at Wichita Jan. 12.

He also will appear at Miami, Palm Beach, Tampa, Jacksonville, Orlando and other Florida points and possibly in Cuba after the New Year.

Louis suffered an eye cut against Johnny Skohr at Boston and later the wound was reopened by Jimmy Bivins at Cleveland and by Vern Mitchell at Detroit.

Bivins Toughest

Out of all the fights Louis engaged in, he said his toughest on the tour was against Bivins at Cleveland. Joe dropped a popular decision to the Clevelander.

All Bivins got out of the "victory" was the exercise because the title is not at stake due to the fact that the bouts are billed for less than the championship distance, are waged with big gloves and are no-decision.

Real Paydays

Aside from giving the champion some badly needed paydays, the exhibitions are getting him into shape for a defense next summer and are calculated to build up whatever sharpness he still can muster at this stage of the proceedings.

His weight remains around 215 pounds or just about 20 pounds more than he weighed when he first hit the big time.

He no longer is the ominously sleek, catlike athlete of a decade ago, but he appears to be still the best in the business.

STEVE NAGY LEADS BOWLING TOURNEY

CHICAGO, Dec. 17.—(INS)—Steve Nagy of Cleveland took the lead today after 16 games of the 64-game round robin competition in the all-star national match game bowling tournament in Chicago.

Nagy toppled 3,469 pins in winning six of 10 games. He compiled a Peterson point total of 79.19.

Andy Varipapa was second with 78.15, 154 points behind Nagy. Connie Schwoegler was third with 76.16.

KENTUCKY BEATS HOLY CROSS 51-48

BOSTON, Dec. 17.—(INS)—The national collegiate basketball champion Kentucky Wildcats recorded their fifth successive win of the season today after eking out a 51 to 48 triumph over Holy Cross.

The slick, speedy Kentuckians, led by center Alex Groza who tallied 17 points, subdued the Crusaders in a high-pitched game last night before 13,909 fans at Boston Garden.

BOXING SECRETARY NAMED

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 17.—(INS)—State Athletic Commisioner Leon Raines announced Thursday the appointment of H. Labarre Potts, of Philadelphia, as secretary of the commission.

The appointment was made by Gov. James H. Duff.

Starting Him Early

HOPING his six-year-old son will follow in his footsteps as a baseball player, Sid Gordon, slugging star of the New York Giants, spends many spare hours in his New York home teaching the boy the fundamentals of the game. Gordon awaits a new contract and a fatter salary. (International)

Drive Slow—Children Move Fast

V.F.W. Post Will Fete Home Children

Boys and girls of the Margaret L. Henry Children's Home on Friendship street have been invited by the VFW Post No. 315 to a Christmas party on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The entertainment will consist of a treat and a picture show.

Transportation has been provided the youngsters with Frank Sargent handling the arrangements.

The trend toward more entertaining at home, hastened by television, has increased demand for moisture-proof tile in converting basements into recreation rooms.

American Soldier Is Hanged In Japan

TOKYO, Dec. 17.—(INS)—Pvt. Stratman Arfistead of Thomasville, Ala., was hanged in Tokyo today for the hammer murders of four Japanese, committed in October, 1947.

The soldier was the first member of the allied occupation forces in Japan to be executed.

President Truman had confirmed his death sentence Nov. 16.

The hanging was carried out this morning and was announced several hours later by the U. S. army.

WHEN INVITED TO A HOUSE PARTY

"I have received an invitation to a house party. Please give me some advice as to how long I should stay and any other information that you think may be of help to me."

Answer: You may stay for precisely the length of time mentioned in the invitation. If it states that you come from Saturday until Monday, you should leave on the latter day, unless really urged to extend your visit. Here are a few of the fundamental points to bear in mind: Be agreeable at all times; appear to be interested in all programs arranged for you, even though you may be bored by them; be on time for meals, no matter how inconvenient to you the hour may be; eat whatever is put before you, regardless of your likes and dislikes; do not impose on busy servants, and give the servant or servants a gratuity as a recompense for the overwork your visit may have caused them.

Question: At my forthcoming wedding, I will have two bridesmaids and a matron-of-honor. Must I have a maid-of-honor too, and who holds my flowers? Is it in good taste to wear silver slippers with a white satin dress?

Answer: No, it is not necessary that you have a maid-of-honor in addition to the matron-of-honor that your plans call for. The bridesmaids are merely ornamental and the matron-of-honor holds your flowers during the ceremony. After the ceremony, she should arrange your train and veil before the recessional starts. Silver slippers should not be worn with a white satin wedding dress. Wear white slippers.

Question: I am planning to attend an informal dinner dance in the near future and I am in doubt as to what to wear. I have a dress with bracelet length sleeves and I am wondering if this would be appropriate. If not, what type of gloves and hat should I wear?

Answer: Yes, wear the dress you describe, a "dressy" hat and gloves long enough to meet the sleeves.

TEXAS QUINTET TOPS NEW YORK U

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—(INS)—When more thrilling basketball games are played, Texas and New York University will stage them.

In last season's invitation tourney, NYU nosed out Texas in the final second of play. Last night at Madison Square Garden the Longhorns obtained revenge by taking a 58 to 57 thriller from the Violets.

THREE STUDENTS ARE SUSPENDED AT GROVE CITY

GROVE CITY, Pa., Dec. 17.—Three students at Grove City college were suspended Thursday for a week in the aftermath of a flareup at Wednesday night's basketball game in which the game officials were booed.

Grove City won the contest, 49 to 46, from Juniata. Robert Thorne, dean of men, attempted to stop the booing at the game and suspended the three after a meeting Thursday.

Fifty-three per cent of the farms of the United States now have electrical service.

One of the Few

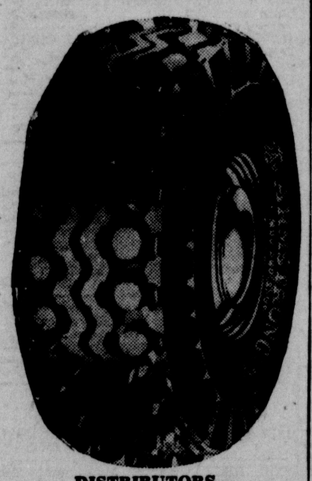

IN TWO YEARS racing only two thoroughbreds have defeated Citation, new "Man O' War" of the turf. One is Bewitch, the Calumet Farm's filly which "defeated" Citation in the Washington Park Futurity when both were 2-year-olds. Many believe, of course, that Citation, stablemate of Bewitch, could have defeated the filly if the Calumet Farm had wanted the colt to do so. Bewitch is pictured above arriving at Hialeah park, Miami, Fla., where the winter racing season gets underway shortly. (International)

Strike for Ted

BUT a strike is okay, says Ted Williams, if it's one like this. The Red Sox slugger pulled this 21-pound musky in on a recent fishing trip in Wisconsin's Hayward area. (International)

New York Stocks

STOCK MARKET RANGE NARROW

Few Price Changes Are Noted During Morning Transactions In Market

NEW YORK, Dec. 17—(INS)—The stock market held in a narrow trading range today with few price changes of importance noted in the general list.

Rail issues held up fairly well despite the recommendations of a presidential emergency board recommending a 40-hour work week and pay adjustments for approximately one million non operating railroad workers.

The total cost to the carriers would run substantially higher than the ten cents hourly wage increase they had offered to the workers.

Key industrial leaders showed little change. U. S. Steel, General Motors, and Chrysler favoring the plus side.

Volume for the first hour totaled 190,000 shares as compared with 200,000 in the comparable period yesterday.

Central Railroad of New Jersey issues were strong in a mixed bond market.

Commodities were higher with grains up fractionally and cotton up as much as 75 cents a bale.
